Mansfield's 'No Compromise' Stand Wavering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today he is studying a revised proposal by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to modify his European troop cut proposal and called it "the most attractive of all."

Mansfield's comments, as the Senate met for a long day of showdown action on Mansfield's proposal for a 50 per cent cut in this country's 300,000-man troop strength in Europe, marked the first break in his "no compromise" position on substantive proposals.

It raised a strong possibility that Mansfield would agree to soften his position—and thereby increase the chance that the Senate might enact a Europe troop cut proposal.

Nelson's revised proposal is due for the day's first vote.

It substitutes a gradual reduction over the next three years for Mansfield's proposal to require a cut in troop strength to 150,000 on Dec. 31, 1971, and provides that the first reduction, to 250,000 by June 30, 1972, would be suspended if East-West talks on mutual reductions begin by the end of 1971.

Additional reductions in U.S. troops would be to 200,000 by June 30, 1973, and to 150,000 by June 30, 1974.

In its original form, the Nelson amendment kept Mansfield's troop reduction schedule but provided that they would not be put into effect Dec. 31 if East-West talks began by Sept. 30.

The new version attempts to deal with the proposal last week by the Soviet Union for troop reduction talks as well as with criticism that a 50 per cent cut less than eight months from now would be too precipitate.

Before the vote, an Associated Press count showed 42 senators opposed to the Mansfield amendment, 36 firmly for or leaning toward it, and 22 undecided.

Mansfield's plan and the alternatives were offered as amendments to a bill extending for two years the draft law due to expire June 30.

After the troop question is decided, the Senate turns to an amendment by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., extending the draft just one year.

The same draft bill also is expected to be the vehicle for the year's major debate on U.S. policy in Indochina. Antiwar senators plan to offer an amendment cutting off funds for U.S. participation in the war at the end of the year.

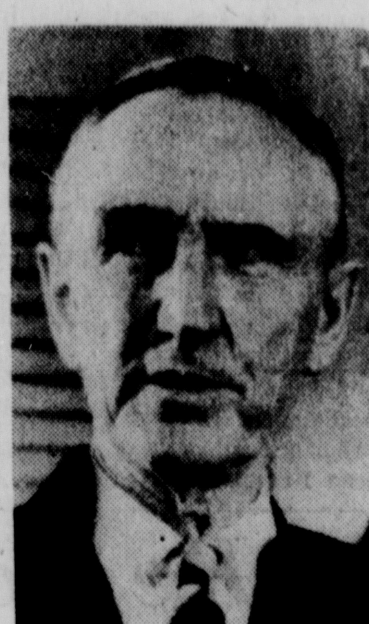

Both sides wheeled up the heavy ammunition Tuesday in day-long debate on the European troop question before putting it aside to deal with the nationwide rail strike.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee, said adoption of the Mansfield amendment would "be a giant step backward for both mankind and the nation because it would signify the relinquishment of United States leadership in the free world." She said the amendment "already produced remarkable results," such as Soviet Communist party Chairman Leonid

Brezhnev's bid for East-West talks on mutual troop withdrawals from Europe, and Western Europe's recognition "that we mean it when we say our patience is at an end."

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee and a supporter of the Mansfield proposal, said: "The amount of the reduction and its timing are less important than a declaration of policy, noting we now have more troops in Europe than we have in Vietnam."

Meanwhile, President Nixon set the line, and it was a hard line: "no compromise."

And so began a campaign of organized persuasion: figures of the Democratic past allied with a Republican White House against legislation to force withdrawal of 150,000 U.S. troops from Western Europe.

The White House deployed its force of five lobbyists, the State Department and the Pentagon set their liaison men to work, all with one set of orders:

Line up the votes to defeat the troop-cut amendment of Mansfield and all its compromise variations.

"The President himself came down hard: 'He's a real hawk on this one,' one administration official said."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers took a personal hand, too. He invited uncommitted senators, among them Sen. Harry F. Byrd, a Virginia independent, to the State Department to talk it over. He set up headquarters in a vice presidential office near the Senate floor and, later, in the back room of Sen. Hugh Scott's office, to argue the administration case man-to-man with the senators making the decision today.

Former Undersecretary of State George W. Ball came to Washington, last Thursday, two days after the Mansfield measure was introduced, and campaigned against it in person and by telephone.

Trains Roll Again But Effects Linger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hodgson said it probably would giant U.S. rail system began 24 hours before full service shrugging off effects of a two-day paralysis today and started moving tired commuters to their jobs and materials to the nation's factories.

Members of the 13,000-member AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, which had immobilized the rail system before Congress broke the coast-to-coast strike, began removing pickets from terminals and freight yards shortly after President Nixon signed legislation ending the walkout.

Union President C.J. Chamberlain notified strikers shortly before midnight Tuesday the walkout was over and ordered them back to their jobs.

The Penn Central reported freight trains were rolling again within an hour of Nixon's decree. Other railroads said they would resume service as the day progressed. Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said it probably would be 24 hours before full service was in effect, but Chamberlain said restoration "should be well along by morning."

The signalmen's union, which represents only two per cent of the nation's 500,000-member railway labor force, struck the rail system Monday morning in a dispute over wages. Their picket lines were honored by other unions and almost all service was halted. Congress quickly enacted a measure Tuesday giving the signalmen a 3.5-per-cent wage hike and ordering a halt to the walkout until at least Oct. 1. President Nixon signed the measure about 10:30 p.m.

The short-lived strike had its effects on commerce.

A dozen West Virginia coal mines were shut down; Detroit auto firms and Pittsburgh steel producers cut back production. The Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek, Mich., and the Quaker Oats Co. at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, shut down altogether.

Growers and processors of perishable foods sought to divert their produce to trucks but many reported only partial success.

Detroit automakers promised a return to full production "as soon as possible" but none of the big three firms could predict when that would be.

General Motors Corp., the nation's largest automaker, laid off 8,250 employees and put 83,100 more on short shifts because of shortages of raw materials.

Chrysler Corp. laid off some 2,000 employees and the Ford Motor Co. put eight plants on short time Tuesday.

Two of the largest cereal manufacturers were also affected. The Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek, Mich., said it would be at least 24 hours before all 3,000 furloughed employees would be back on the job.

The Quaker Oats Co. in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, laid off 500 employees in its processing division Tuesday. The company normally ships between 45 and 60 carloads daily.

The walkout also affected the stock market. The New York Stock Exchange dropped sharply Monday, rose slightly at midday Tuesday but closed 2.74 points down in the Dow Jones averages.

The picket lines came down at midnight, signalling clear track ahead for railroad workers returning to work at depots and freight yards across New York State this morning.

At Albany, Binghamton and Buffalo, railroad spokesmen reported all things "as usual" by 8 a.m.

The giant Penn Central freight yard at Selkirk was typical of other rail terminals in the state and the nation. Work crews assigned to the midnight to 8 a.m. shift began reporting at 1 a.m. and most were on the job a few hours later.

The first cross-state passenger train pulled out of New York City's Grand Central Station at 8:30, bound for Buffalo and on time. The 7:20 a.m. Albany to New York City train also was on time.

Buffalo reported its two early morning Amtrak departures "on schedule" and the Erie Lackawanna said early crews were running their "rust breakers" work trains, over the tracks before commuter operations into New York began from Suffern and Port Jervis.

SAIGON — American B52 Stratofortresses bombarded a suspected Communist troop concentration six miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) today in a continuing campaign to protect the allied flank in the A Shau Valley offensive 50 miles to the south.

At least 90 tons of bombs hit the area where the suspected Communist unit was moving. More than 3,500 tons of bombs have cratered the northwest corner of South Vietnam since April 14 when the A Shau Valley buildup began.

Ten miles north of the A Shau Valley, U.S. supporting forces were still looking for four American helicopter crewmen who were shot down Sunday. The U.S. command in Saigon had announced their rescue but later retracted the announcement and said they were still missing.

Meanwhile, a battalion of 700 elite South Vietnamese troops is combing an area on the Laotian border, searching for a major North Vietnamese base and command headquarters, military spokesmen announced today.

The operation got under way Tuesday in the central highlands about 10 miles northwest of Ben Het, and the South Vietnamese have found nothing significant so far, a military spokesman in Pleiku, Capt. Le Van Phuc, said.

three schools, the YMCA, a library and a Broadway restaurant, made similar "bomb" calls to the M.J.M. School at 10:40 a.m. and to the J. Watson Bailey School two minutes later.

The two schools were evacuated until police searched the buildings and found no explosives.

City police received five anonymous telephone calls Tuesday between 2:57 and 3 p.m., reporting bomb incidents.

Highland troopers said they were notified at 2:35 p.m. that a bomb had been placed in the Port Even Elementary School on Clay Road in the Town of Esopus.

Another Blood Bank Achievement

The Ulster County Blood Bank, Inc. has been admitted as an associate member in the American Association of Blood Banks, it was announced today by Anthony R. Triulzi, local Blood Bank president.

The announcement, said Triulzi, came from national headquarters in Chicago.

By obtaining membership in the national association, the Ulster County Blood Bank is now eligible to send or receive blood, on a reciprocal basis, with the more than 800 member Banks located throughout the United States.

One of the most important aspects of membership in the association is that a local blood bank has access to a Rare Donor File, which provides a list of more than 4,000 registered donors having extremely rare blood. Should the need arise, the rare blood can be shipped to any member Bank from one of 10 storage depots across the country on a minute's notice. Also available for use by local units is a "super-rare blood" file.

The American Association of Blood Banks is the national organization representing hospital and community blood banks and transfusion services. Organized in 1947, the Association's continuing aim is to improve the quality and safety of human blood transfusions by providing technical information, encouraging research and promoting the voluntary concept of blood donation.

Patterned after the monetary clearinghouse system, the program makes it possible for a donor to give blood at his local blood bank, and request transfer of a blood replacement blood supplies. Five district offices and a national office are linked by a Telex Communications system, assuring that all data is kept up to the minute and that blood requests are answered immediately.

The 800 member banks, which operate through a national clearinghouse program, serve more than 3,000 hospital and transfusion services throughout the U.S.

In addition, 28 regional laboratories provide serology studies and nationwide consultation to individual blood banks on the identification of rare blood factors, procurement of rare blood type and other problems related to transfusion and therapy.

A voluntary Committee on Standards, comprised of physicians, constantly reviews standards, technical methods and procedures in all phases of blood banking and transfusion services. Its recommendations, which also conform to regulations of the National Institutes of Health, are published in the AABBB manual. These recommendations form the basis for the AABBB Inspection and Accreditation Program.

While the local Blood Bank is "expanding" nationwide, officials today said it is also expanding on a local level. Wildred G. Springer, executive director of the Ulster County blood unit, said that April membership in the Bank increased by more than 100 per cent over February membership figures.

This indicates, said Springer, "a growing awareness by many of this very vital service to those residents of and non-residents working in Ulster County."

ATTAINS MEMBERSHIP—The Ulster County Blood Bank has received notice that it has been awarded associate membership in the American Association of Blood Banks. With the certificate signifying membership are (L-R), Mrs. Harold E. Finkle, office manager of the local Blood Bank; Richard B. Glazer, chairman of the Division of Biological and Health Sciences at Ulster County Community College and also a member of the Blood Bank's Board of Directors and Wilfred G. Woodstock Planning Board Gets Amendment

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK A near capacity crowd jammed into Woodstock's Town Hall Tuesday night for what had been billed in advance as a "red hot confrontation" between those supporting a new recreation park in Zena and those opposed to the project.

And, while both sides were represented in strength and the necessary vocal power, the subject surfaced only momentarily and then only in the course of routine Town Board business.

With Town Justice Rudolph Baumgarten sitting in for absent Supervisor Milton Houst, and the board missing another man in Councilman Arthur MacDaniel, petitions signed by 657 local residents were accepted. The petition, circulated by the Woodstock Citizens Association, called for an amendment of the local zoning ordinance that would prohibit Zena Recreation Associates, Inc., or any other similar group from using land in residential districts for non-profit clubs or recreational purposes.

With representatives from both groups present in large numbers, the board's acceptance of the petitions had been expected to touch off lengthy arguments from the floor. The action drew no comment whatsoever; and any possible friction was avoided when the board moved to refer the proposed amendment to the local Planning Board for that body's recommendations. If the Planning Board should elect not to report back on the matter within a month, the Town Board could then act on a zoning amendment without the recommendations of the planners.

There is little reason, then, to expect any further action on the recreation park (aiming for a July 4 opening) until the board's June meeting if then.

The meeting also saw the unanimous passage of a resolution by the Town Board, requesting the Ulster County Health Department to review the "problem of change" in use of previously approved septic systems in the Town of Woodstock.

The resolution noted that changes in use of existing properties in the art colony and other Ulster towns "have burdened" present septic systems "beyond the capacity originally anticipated." Suggestion that "standards necessary to control" the increased burden on existing septic systems "must be set and enforced" by the county Health Department. The Woodstock board requested that department to review the problem and take the necessary steps to amend current codes.

In essence, the resolution is asking the county to "enforce continued inspection" as additional burden is placed on individual septic systems. (Whitney Drive and Violet Place), both of which were apparently not provided with proper drainage by the builder. As a consequence, Woodstock officials have not accepted either as a town road, and the Zena Area Civic Homeowners Association is urging the board to obtain the services of an attorney to determine legal steps necessary to solve the drainage problems now preventing the board from accepting both as town roads.

Ulster Businessmen Review Proposed Arterial Route

TOWN OF ULSTER The recent announcement by the State Transportation Department regarding the proposed arterial route through the Town of Ulster and plans to improve traffic conditions on the present Route 9W alignment (Ulster Avenue Mall) was reviewed at Tuesday night's meeting of Ulster Businessmen Association held at Kingston Savings Bank's Bonanza Branch.

John R. Warren of CTA Public Relations Inc., public relations consultant for the association read the Transportation Department's announcement.

The association authorized the secretary to send a communication to the department expressing the association's appreciation for consideration of the project and reconstruction plans for Albany Avenue Mall. The association has for some time been seeking reconstruction of the existing 9W highway through Ulster Shop City and has been requesting the state to enlarge the highway to four lanes of undivided highway to improve traffic conditions through the commercially congested area.

James Pierson, engineer with the Transportation Department's district office in Poughkeepsie said today that no details were available at this date as to what reconstruction is contemplated.

Mrs. Bette Maxson, chairman of the Committee on Visual Environmental Beautification reported that the Beautification

Committee is planning to award a certificate of merit to the business which has made the most outstanding improvement of its property in Shop City. The award is expected to be made next week. The committee further plans to make this a regular award to be presented periodically.

No definite plans were made for the formal presentation and planting of a sheared white pine tree at the Mammoth Mall shopping center now under construction. The tree, a gift from the Businessmen Association will be planted as soon as site work at the former 9W Drive-in Theater is completed.

Egypt Demonstrations Banned

CAIRO (UPI)—The government newspaper Al Ahram, Sadat's official mouthpiece, today banned demonstrations in support of the new constitution, ending a six-day period of processions in support of the new constitution. The ban was issued by Interior Minister Mahmoud Salem, who shouldered their duties and to rest capable of coping with every situation and taking care of the Cairo and other Egyptian cities' responsibilities of the new of Sadat's main opponents. The ban appealed "to all citizens to sincere hands which are interests."

Sadat, who ousted a number of officials last week, called his many facts, happenings and new 33-member cabinet into its trends of thought. The ban on demonstrations first meeting today. According to the semi-official Cairo was ordered by Interior Minister.

Turks Racing The Clock

ISTANBUL (UPI)—The Turkish government, racing the clock to save the life of kidnapped Israeli Consul-General Ephraim Elrom, imposed a news blackout today on details of the arrest of one of his alleged abductors.

A government announcement Tuesday night identified the suspect as Ayhan Yalin, a member of the Turkish Peoples' Liberation Army and a former university student. It gave no further details of the capture.

"Others will be caught in a short time," said Deputy Premier Sadi Kocas, who made the announcement. There was no word on Elrom.

A letter from the left-wing Liberation Army gave the government until 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EDT) Thursday to release all "revolutionary guerrillas" from jail. If not, they said, the 59-year-old Elrom would be shot.

Instead of releasing prisoners, the government reacted by filling the jails. A government spokesman said more than 200 persons were arrested Tuesday, including five law professors, students, writers and intellectuals.

Elrom, who only had three months to go in his post, was abducted from his Istanbul apartment Monday by five gunmen. Israelis best remember him for his key role in the interrogation a decade ago of Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann in Jerusalem.

European Security Conference

Soviets See Goal in Sight

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet leaders have been laboring for about four years for a goal which they may believe is at last within their grasp: a European security conference.

Premier Alexei Kosygin's many, Berlin, the Middle East—is not at all necessary, in the Soviet view, in advance of a security conference. The Kremlin contends that there is no reason why lack of agreement on any particular issue should prevent a security conference at which the Americans and Canadians can cater, if they wish.

In these conditions the campaign for a security conference is being intensified. The Soviet-controlled World Peace Council, meeting in Budapest, has been planning a new propaganda offensive on behalf of such a conference to "rally all the people of good will who consider their primary responsibility to carry an implacable struggle against imperialism." It speaks gloomily of the presence in Europe of 300,000 American troops "armed with the newest types of weapons," as if to suggest war could break out at any time.

"A sincere diplomat," Joseph Stalin once said, "is like dry water or wooden iron." His belief that there could be no such thing as sincerity in diplomacy was demonstrated on occasion, linked the troop withdrawal idea to the European security proposal. Preparations for the security conference should be stepped up, he said, and quickly added that the European situation required attention to the problem of troop and arms reduction.

But agreement on troop reductions—or on anything else, for that matter, including Ger-

ABOARD THE COAST GUARD CUTTER DUANE (UPI)—Soviet and American fishermen and government officials meet today on a Soviet ship at sea in an effort to settle alleged hit-and-run harassment of U.S. lobstermen off the New England coast.

The meeting between a nine-man American delegation and the commander of the 120-boat Russian fishing fleet was scheduled for 10 a.m. EDT aboard the Soviet ship S.S. Robert Eikhe, named for a Russian revolutionary hero, near the Nantucket lightship about 80 miles south of Cape Cod.

Donald L. McKernan, special assistant for fisheries, wildlife and ocean affairs in the U.S. State Department, was in charge of the U.S. delegation, which traveled to the area aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Duane.

The Soviet fleet commander has been identified as Cmdr. Rattcev. He requested the meeting be aboard his ship because work obligations prevented him from coming ashore. "American deep-sea lobster fishermen say the Soviet fishing trawlers deliberately have made sweeps through their gear, endangering lives and causing thousands of dollars damage and lost fishing time, for that matter, including Ger-

SUNY Chancellor Has Kingston Date

KINGSTON

Three service clubs of Kingston, the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotarians, will be attending a combined luncheon meeting Thursday, June 3, at 12:30 in Gov. Clinton Hotel to hear a prominent educator and author.

Dr. Ernest LeRoy Boyer, chancellor of the State University of New York will be the guest speaker, according to Larry Quilty, chairman of the College Council at State University, New Paltz.

Quilty said Dr. Boyer will speak on the state education system and SUNY in particular. Quilty noted that he was fortunate that Dr. Boyer is able to attend and speak because of the educator's busy schedule at this time of year. "I believe that this is the first time we have had a State University chancellor visit and speak in Kingston," he said.

Other community activities and items of mutual interest are expected to be discussed at the luncheon session.

Dr. Boyer's address will cover the four or five greatest objectives of the entire State University system. He will also be available for questions following the talk, Quilty said.

Boyer, a native of Dayton, Ohio, received his AB Degree at Greenville College, Ill., in 1950; pursued graduate studies at Ohio State University, received his MA and PhD at the University of Southern California and also attended the University of Iowa Hospital and Harvard University.

He succeeded to the post of chancellor in 1970 after serving as vice chancellor from 1968. Prior to that he was executive dean for three years.

Dr. Boyer has many books, journals and other publications to his credit. He resides at Slingerlands with his wife, the former Kathryn Tyson, and four children.

Mones to Run Again As City Legislator

KINGSTON Legislator Melvin Mones of Wilson Avenue became the first county representative from the city to announce his candidacy for reelection today.

Mones, seeking his third term, informed Republican committeemen in the city of his intention to run again by letter on May 9, concluding by stating, "It is my desire to continue to give you and the citizens of our city the proper type of conscientious representation to which you are all entitled."

Mones, in declaring his candidacy for the county legislature, firmly ruled out any plans to run for mayor this year. His name had been prominently mentioned in 1969 as a mayoral candidate.

He ran instead for county legislator, finishing with 5,598 votes, on the Republican ticket. Mones was also endorsed by the Conservative party in 1969.

He is currently chairman of the County Legislature's Public Health Committee and also serves on the Legislative and Rules Committee, the Social Service Committee, the Sheriff's Committee and the Recreation and Youth Committees.

He has introduced legislation establishing a county recreation and parks commission, study for collection, treatment and disposal of solid wastes; study for senior citizen housing; evaluation and adoption by the county of State Sanitary Housing Codes; increased staff and facilities for the mental health center; has sponsored legislation for a county consumer fraud bureau as part of the district attorney's office and offered the resolution for initiating the county narcotic commission.

While in office Mones voted for a comprehensive appraisal of county property and insurance; a new county infirmary; new county jail; increased compensation for all jurors; rehabilitative program for county prisoners; increased facilities and modernized fire control center; creation of a historical site commission; tax mapping and county reassessment; youth center; has sponsored legislation for a county consumer fraud bureau as part of the district attorney's office and offered the resolution for initiating the county narcotic commission.

Mones was city Republican chairman in 1969-70 and previous to his election to the County Legislature in 1967, was a member of the Kingston Water Board. He is a pharmacist by profession, employed at Drug City in the Ulster Shopping Plaza.

Koenig to Attend Mayors Conference

KINGSTON Mayor Francis R. Koenig said today he will attend "key fiscal sessions" of the New York State Mayors Conference in New York City the week of June 6-10 but will not attend the conference in its entirety.

Congressman Samuel S. Stratton, former New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Ross Davis, director of the National League of Cities Center of Program Implementation will be among the speakers.

"The discussion of the fiscal challenges will probably be the most important series of meetings the mayors of our state have ever had," a spokesman for the Mayors Conference said. Koenig said he would attend various sessions of the conference "at his own expense."

'Pot' Penalty Easing Fizzles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A legislative attempt to reduce marijuana penalties in New York State was all but officially dead today after the Assembly demonstrated a stunning hostility toward one of two bills aimed at tempering the present drug law.

Proponents of the measure argued during three hours of debate Tuesday that statutes now on the books are punitive and excessive and fail to deter the possession and sale of marijuana, especially when small quantities of the drug are involved.

Their arguments were overruled by assemblymen who voiced concern that any reduction of the penalties could be construed by young persons in particular as an indication that the government leaders see nothing wrong with the smoking of pot. In addition, the opponents maintained, the way would be cleared for future legislation to legalize marijuana.

When the roll call was completed, the vote was 65 - 79 against the bill. At least 76 votes are needed to pass measures in the Assembly.

Republican Chester R. Hardt of Williamsville, near Buffalo, the main Assembly sponsor, used the parliamentary maneuver of tabling the bill to allow him to bring it back to the floor for another vote later in the session.

He conceded to a reporter, however, that he does not believe the legislature is prepared to approve the proposed change this year. "But we're going to talk to a few people," Hardt added.

The Senate has passed a slightly more liberal bill, sponsored by Republican John R. Dunne of Garden City, Long Island. When Dunne was asked for his reaction to the Assembly debate, he said:

"After that vote, my bill doesn't have a prayer."

Both measures were based on recommendations made earlier in the year by the Temporary State Commission to Evaluate the Drug Laws. Hardt is the commission chairman. Gov. Rockefeller endorsed the panel findings.

In other legislative activity, the Assembly followed the Senate's lead and voted to abolish the last segment of New York State's "full-crew" railroad law. The measure now goes to the governor for a final decision.

Under its terms, there no longer would be a requirement for diesel and electric locomotives to carry a fireman in the adding another layer of bureaucracy, as well as the engineer, to the government.

Rail unions have said the bill would wipe out approximately 1,300 jobs. The Assembly also passed a bill to create a "welfare inspector general" in the Executive Department to prevent abuses of the social service system. The vote was 88-59. The bill was sent to the Senate.

The office of welfare inspector general is part of a package of proposals put forth by Rockefeller. The office-holder would be charged with investigating complaints "from the public or any other source concerning alleged abuses, suspected frauds and other violations of the welfare system."

Opponents maintained that such complaints should be handled by the Social Services Department, which administers the $4 billion-a-year welfare program in New York, rather than to the legislature in amendment form to meet objections that had been raised by black and Puerto Rican lawmakers.

These legislators had charged that the language of the original measure was discriminatory. The revised bill, said Democratic Assemblyman Thomas Forceller, the office-holder would be charged with investigating complaints "from the public or any other source concerning alleged abuses, suspected frauds and other violations of the welfare system."

Meanwhile, the Senate passed and sent to the Assembly a bill requested by Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York that would authorize a $100-million convention center for the city.

CSEA Strike Warning

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The board of directors of the labor union representing the bulk of the state work force has threatened a statewide strike in mid-June unless the Rockefeller administration rehires about 8,300 state employees fired because of budget cuts.

Officials of the Civil Service Employees Association issued the threat Tuesday night in announcing that its 130,000 members had authorized a strike by an "overwhelming" margin. The board of directors said Theodore Wenzl, union president, was ordered to call a walkout at midnight on June 16 "unless the jobs of more than 8,000 state employees who have been or are slated to be fired are restored."

Wenzl, speaking with news of Appeals' rejection of a suit men after the meeting, said he hoped the jobs could be restored through the legislature's supplemental budget, expected to be made public by the end of the month.

Governor Rockefeller, forced into the job cuts by budget reductions imposed by the legislature, had no immediate comment. A spokesman in the governor's office said there would be no comment until the CSEA demand was "officially received and studied."

The CSEA is the sole bargaining agent for about 150,000 of the state's 180,000 employees.

The union also announced it will begin a new action against the $7.7 billion state budget, seeking to enjoin Comptroller Arthur Levitt from authorizing payment of any funds.

The move would be a new tack in the wake of the Court

SST — Compromise in Works

WASHINGTON (UPI) Senate sources said today a compromise of sorts appeared in the works to settle the continuing controversy over the supersonic transport (SST).

The effect, however, would be the same—to kill the project again.

Last week the house revived the 1,800-mile-per-hour jetcraft in a surprise vote by turning a $15.3 million appropriation to terminate government participation in the SST program into a subsidy for further development.

The Senate Appropriations Committee agreed with the House action. But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., apparently had the votes in the Senate to kill the appropriation outright in a vote scheduled this evening.

That would mean another defeat for the Nixon administration and SST supporters, particularly Democratic Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, in whose home state of Washington the plane would be built.

T. A. Wilson, president of Boeing Aircraft Co., wandered around Capitol Hill Tuesday, conferring with lawmakers, including Magnuson.

It was understood Wilson made it clear Boeing was not interested in reviving the SST under the present contract.

Instead it wants the $52.14 million it would receive under government cancellation—part of the $85.3 million converted into a revival fund by the House.

The House-passed measure also earmarked $33.85 million in contract termination for General Electric Co., the SST engine builder.

Under the compromise, the $85.3 million for Boeing and GE would be turned back into termination funds, its original purpose, and the appropriation would be expanded to reimburse the government for the $12 million it has spent in administrative costs.

It was also understood that the appropriation would further be enlarged to pay off the major U.S. airlines who have sunk $58.5 million into the project.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 19, 1971

Economics for the 1970s

In 1950, the gross national product was $285 billion. In the two decades since, it reached $977 billion. Even when deflated for higher prices, the output of real goods and services more than doubled. If the economy is concerned with the attainment of well-being, has this GNP growth also doubled the well-being of society?

The fact is that, with the problem of life and bread already solved—or well within solution—other more grim problems have arisen. The new generation has substituted new aspirations. What satisfied their parents hardly satisfies them today.

The Congress even expressed its disillusionment with the state of the economy recently. The National Environmental Act of 1969 recognizes the "profound impact on society of population growth, high-density urbanization, industrial expansion, resources exploitation, and technological advances." It calls on government, in cooperation with other public and private organizations, "to use all practical means to create and maintain conditions under which man and nature can exist in productive harmony and fulfill the social, economic and other requirements of present and future generations of Americans."

In other words, the economics of the 50s and 60s no longer suffice. The aims have expanded so much that the tax revenues the huge GNP throws off are absorbed by programs already included in the 1972 Federal budget for several years to come. A Brookings study shows there will be a "fiscal dividend" of only $17 billion for new discretionary programs, but it will be placed mostly in Social Security trust funds and probably not available for other programs.

The economics of the 70s is a prisoner of the over-generous past. It is going to be hard to provide for the economic well-being of the present and future.

Mills Goes to Grass Roots

After his election and before his inauguration, President Nixon called many men to go over his program and seek their advice. One of these was Wilbur Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means committee. They did not see eye to eye then. The gap between their policies now has widened so much that Mills is quietly campaigning for the Democratic nomination to oppose Nixon in 1972.

Mills launched into personal diplomacy when he made a deal with the Japanese to allow them to limit their textile exports, which Nixon repudiated. One of Nixon's key proposals is federal-revenue sharing of some $5 billion, which Mills called "a bad and dangerous proposal" in an address far from Washington, at the grass roots level, before the Tennessee Legislature.

For the better part of a year, Nixon administration strategists have taken their fight for revenue-sharing to the governors, mayors, state legislatures and county executives. Vice President Agnew had extolled the virtues of revenue sharing before the same Tennessee legislators less than a week before, and predicted its passage.

Mills followed with a prediction that it will not pass his committee and will not even reach a vote on the floor of the House. If any one can keep the committee from approving revenue sharing, it is Mills. He seems to have picked a platform where he is strongest for an early showdown with Nixon. The President has going for him the needs of the cities and states. The fight may be one of the early decision makers of the 1972 campaign.

Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey of California has rented space on Capitol Hill in Washington for a headquarters for his campaign for the Republican nomination for President. His challenge to President Nixon begins in New Hampshire primary next March. That is where Romney's challenge died four years ago.

David Lawrence Says Soviet Eager to Abolish North Atlantic Treaty

WASHINGTON — One wonders how much realism some of the leaders of the Senate have when they recommend a 50 per cent reduction of American troops in Europe and eagerly welcome a Soviet suggestion that there be negotiations for a "mutual reduction" of armaments in "central Europe."

Do they not realize that the Communists want most of the troops of the United States to be sent home and that, even if the Soviets agree to diminish their forces in the Eastern European states, the biggest standing army in the world will still remain not far away from the Soviet Union?

Such a result will give the Communist dictatorship in Moscow domination over the entire continent, and the United States could not come to the aid of continental countries in the West unless nuclear power were used. The Kremlin, of course, doesn't think the American government would go that far to carry out its obligations under the North Atlantic Treaty to defend the member states in Western Europe.

The idea of negotiating with the Russians about the "mutual reduction" of troops in Europe seems nevertheless to have struck a responsive chord in Congress, though some members want to go ahead anyway and cut in half right away the military strength of the United States in Europe.

What is puzzling to anyone who has watched international crises develop over many decades is the seeming readiness of some of the members of the Senate unwittingly to place their own country in a dangerous position by interfering with the conduct of foreign policy by the President. Whether these tactics are merely the unfortunate consequences of the political irresponsibility which arises when there is a divided government or whether Senators feel they know more about foreign policy than all the Presidents or secretaries of State of recent years who now publicly oppose their proposals, the net result is a sad state of confusion. Certainly in the next national election there will be convincing arguments made for the selection of a president and a majority of both Houses from the same party if the American system of government is to be effective.

President Nixon was supported last Saturday by a statement of 24 high officials who had served in the Department of Defense or the Department of State in four preceding administrations. They were unanimous in their advice that the Senate should not tamper with the withdrawal of troops from Europe but should leave it to the President. Mr. Nixon said afterwards:

"At this point in time, it would be an error of historic dimensions for any of the North Atlantic Treaty allies to reduce unilaterally the military forces maintained in Europe for the common defense. As the most powerful member of the alliance, the United States bears a responsibility for leadership. Let us persevere to carry forward the policy of this nation under five successive presidents representing both political parties, confident that our united strength will promote the enduring peace we seek."

Former Presidents Truman and Johnson have also issued statements endorsing President Nixon's position.

Naturally the Soviets are interested in an agreement that will virtually abolish the North Atlantic Treaty. They themselves can agree to pull back troops from some of the eastern states of Europe. But there is no assurance such units will not be returned whenever the Kremlin finds an excuse to do so. Meanwhile all of Western Europe would be without a military organization strong enough to defend itself. The Communists would then be able to move in at will and take over West Germany, for instance, feeling certain there would be little or no resistance. Is an American policy of withdrawal, therefore, wise?

The incident illustrates how interference by the legislative body in the conduct of foreign policy can produce serious consequences. The Soviets now expect the United States to negotiate withdrawal of American troops. There has been no such move heretofore.

The United States, of course, will discuss with the Soviets any phase of the situation but there is no obligation to agree to a reduction of troops, particularly since the Moscow government maintains such a huge military organization. Withdrawal of American forces would make it easier for Communist aggression to be successful. It might affect the safety of Western Europe, whose people would be at the mercy of the big armies of Russia. The only alternative would be the use of nuclear weapons. This is something which the whole world has hoped could be avoided.

Activists—How Successful?

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Vietnamese friend, once a guerrilla, has been visiting Washington and has some interesting observations on our own guerrillas, the way-out activists.

Much has been written of the Mayday Tribe's failure in Washington. They did not shut down the city or the government. They did not trigger police extremism. They did create distrust in some quarters which had been favorable.

But in building an underground movement, failure of an operation often actually works to advantage. Young people who have gone through the fire together find new strength and greater commitment to the cause. It is a deliberate recruitment technique with the Viet Cong to assign youths initially to minor illegal actions, giving them the sense of being outside the law, inviting and even arranging police harassment. The result is an emotionally committed recruit.

Around 11,000 people were jailed for one reason or another in the May Day affair in Washington. Some were committed to the cause beforehand. But many weren't.

The real question is, how many of those among the 11,000 who were uncommitted before May Day week, have now switched. The switching must certainly have been a major objective of the demonstration leaders. (All this is not to criticize the Washington police force on a job that had to be done.)

From a guerrilla standpoint it was a terrifying tactic. The fact that it failed this time gives little comfort to anyone who knows anything about underground operations. It would, in fact, be quite practical for a few well-trained operators managing a few hundred disciplined guerrillas to tie up traffic that Washington or any other major city would find it most difficult to operate.

This would be a much more effective tactic than bombings by small groups in the night. Also two prominent radical leaders presumably will be brought to trial as a result of the operation. We must expect that trial will be used (according to standard underground operating procedure) as a dramatic showplace for propaganda and designed (by the defense) to get the maximum amount of publicity.

The Vietnamese visitor is convinced the main objective is to create a backlash and such a strong demand for law and order that some major cities will take on the semblance of "police states," which would then breed new opposition to the establishment.

In arguing to the contrary, the evidence thus far seems to be that in most major cities and most of the time the police have reacted with flexibility, if not at the beginning, then as time has passed and the police gained experience in mass confrontations.

My friend thinks I am wrong. He, too, is not criticizing the police. But he does think the confrontations will snowball and that public opinion and the legitimate requirements of law and order (the necessity of keeping government, business and schools operating) will gradually force stronger methods of control, which, inevitably, he believes, will result in even greater confrontations as more youngsters are radicalized.

The Vietnamese may be wrong. But he is no fool. He has watched an underground develop almost from its beginning in his own country and was for a time part of that underground in the war against the French. So his thoughts must be accorded some respect.

Jack Anderson Says Black Pride and Black Power Are Rising in South Africa

WASHINGTON — The black pride that has stirred America has now touched the citadel of black oppression, South Africa, whose 15 million blacks have been herded by the 3.6 million white minority. The Transkei, a tribal homeland established by the South African government to encourage separation of the races, is demanding more independence. Many black leaders are calling for equality as well.

The four million Zulus, long deferential to white rule, are showing some of the spirit that once made them a nation of fierce, feared warriors. They are fed up with living in native huts in the shadow of the white men's luxurious plantation homes.

In the ghettos where most urban blacks live, ministers are quoting from the Song of Solomon 1:5, "I am black but comely." Youths are crawling on the walls: "Say it loud, I am black, I am proud." And students are preaching not only black pride but black power.

South Africa's bull-headed Prime Minister John Vorster, feeling the pressure, has eased up on the blacks at home and has made overtures to his black neighbors. He has invited Black Africa's leaders to visit South Africa as equals and has promised them the full VIP treatment.

Most black leaders have scorned Vorster's overtures and have shunned his invitation. But the Ivory Coast's brilliant President Felix Houphouët-Boigny, probably the most influential black moderate, has reached out for the olive branch.

Joe Spear reports that Houphouët-Boigny, imitating Red China's diplomatic Ping-Pong, may send sportsmen (probably boxers) to South Africa first, then follow up himself with a state visit.

Writes Spear: "Biogny explains that his real concern is for his black brothers in South Africa. They will be the ones to suffer, he says, if Black Africa continues its militant line toward South Africa."

He believes Vorster's invitation is the first real break in the apartheid policy and black leaders should take advantage of the open door. Biogny contends that South Africa is too strong for blacks to challenge militarily. But if a dialogue develops between Black Africa and South Africa, it could prevent a terrible bloodletting. Meanwhile, apartheid will atrophy."

Hoover's Books
FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover is positively apoplectic over our story that he collected more than $250,000 in royalties from three books researched and written for him by FBI employees on government time.

We quoted friends as saying Hoover turned over the proceeds to his favorite charities. However, they cited the J. Edgar Hoover Foundation whose records showed no contributions from the venerable G-Man.

We asked the FBI what charities had received the royalties and waited 24 hours for an answer from FBI spokesman Tom Bishop. He finally said Hoover had "no comment."

Yet at the same time, the FBI apparently leaked details to William Rusher, publisher of the National Review, to use against me on the nationwide television program, "The Advocates."

The able Rusher said the profits from Hoover's best seller, "Masters of Deceit," were split five ways: one-fifth to Hoover, one-fifth to the FBI recreational fund and three-fifths to the FBI employees who did the work.

Hoover's share, as nearly as we could calculate it from the book sales, would have amounted to about $30,000.

In addition, Warner Brothers paid Hoover a reported $50,000 for the movie rights to the book. Since no movie was ever made, movie colony insiders suggested the payment was really intended to butter up Hoover so he would permit Warner Brothers to film the TV series, "The FBI."

FBI Leak

Rusher refused to say how the movie money was distributed. But he said the royalties from Hoover's next two books were signed over to the FBI recreational fund.

Rusher refused to say where he got his information, but members of his staff told us he had been in touch with the FBI.

My associate Les Whitten immediately called Tom Bishop again and asked him whether Rusher's information was accurate.

"We are 'no commenting,'" said the FBI spokesman.

Whitten asked Bishop why the FBI had leaked information to Rusher that had been withheld from us.

"We're going to 'no comment' on it," said Bishop.

Asked why the FBI didn't "no comment," Rusher, Bishop replied: "We have got a lot of people asking us about your column, and we are 'no commenting.'"

Whitten then suggested Hoover should give a public accounting of all his book and movie deals.

"I don't think Mr. Hoover has any obligation to make a public accounting to you," said Bishop. Later, he called to say, "We will not furnish you with the accounting you asked for."

We believe the FBI chief should make an accounting to the public. He collected huge sums for work done by government employees on government time. If Rusher's information is correct, Hoover pocketed some of the money, shared some with the FBI men who did the research and writing, then contributed the rest to the FBI recreational fund.

But the public is entitled to know more about how Hoover benefited from work done at the taxpayers' expense. For instance, did he take a personal tax deduction for the money that was handed over to the others?

The FBI can hardly be expected to investigate its own chief. We suggest that Congress properly should make the investigation.

THE SHIEK OF BRAMHALL AVENUE

The children — bless their little sexy hearts — often ask what it was like for me to be a teenager. First of all, I was never a teenager; I was born fully grown and working. My earliest memory is being wheeled down the street in a crib folding newspapers and tossing them onto front porches.

Most parents like to tell the youngsters how difficult life was in "the good old days." My father used to state that, after a week of weeding on a farm, his mother gave him five cents and he bought a baseball. Ergo: he had 52 baseballs a year and must have been a rich lousy kid. My teenage life is simple to relate. I was slightly handicapped because I was stupid.

At the age of 16, I learned that girls were good for things other than weeping. My sister Adele was a pretty good crier. My mother was a master. She saw a movie called "Over the Hill" six times and used 14 handkerchiefs. Until the age of 16, my sex life was my own business. Then I got together with the fellas, heard the straight story right out of the gutter, and said "No!"

After that, I cultivated all the girls in the neighborhood and they all said "Fresh!" and slapped me in the kisser. I made the mistake of going back to the fellas and telling them that they had the wrong dope. They looked me over carefully, and said they had the right one.

But there were other things besides sex. Radio, for example. We didn't have one. My father explained why. He was waiting for Marconi to invent it. My mother, a short woman who originated "Lib," noticed that I was taking an interest in clothes and ties and slapped me in the face. "I know," she said, "you're thinking of girls. Treat them all as though they were your sister."

I took another look at Adele and gave up girls. Adele was a primrose with blond hair who was a stool pigeon. Mostly, she squealed on Johnny, who liked to play in empty lots around bonfires. She didn't have to squeal. You could smell him coming upstairs to the railroad flat. My mother took one whiff and smacked me. "Why?" I begged. "Because," she said loftily, "you're the oldest and you should watch him."

Our family was filthy with money. My father got paid twice a month as a policeman and we knew when payday arrived because we had porterhouse steak and a half apple pie. Also, no matter where we went, the rent was too high. We lived in four flats — one at a time — on Bramhall Avenue in Jersey City.

The furniture, which was a green sofa with green armchairs, and a green rug, came from Ludwig Baumann at $25 a month. The piano came from Dirivas and Harris. We used to put a piano roll in, and the thing played "Over the Waves." Our other favorite was "Poet and Peasant."

On Sunday at four o'clock, my mother permitted the fellas to come in with their girls. I invited many, but few showed up. I had black hair and slit eyes and they said I looked like a Jap. Or a Joop.

We danced. We played spin-the-bottle. My mother baked tea biscuits and a chocolate layer cake. We couldn't afford milk, so she served tea. The kissing games were a washout. At 16, the boys were trying to prove that they were sexy, and the girls were trying to prove that they were modest. Both were fakes. If a girl liked you she called you a "sheik."

The fellas told me that the girls wore something called stepsies, but I never got further than finding out the girls had buttons on the back on their blouses. I wouldn't say that I was obsessed with girls; just demented.

The nuns in St. Patrick's School said that if we ever so much as committed a crime against chastity by thought, word or deed, we would be condemned to Hell for all eternity. I condemned myself at least once day. Sometimes, when I felt reckless — well, that's another story.

My father was still waiting for Marconi to invent the radio, and my mother was waiting for God to invent my father. I was searching like mad for what my mother called a "fallen woman" but couldn't find any. I even looked for a "painted Jezebel," which is better, but they just smiled tolerantly and said: "Get lost, kiddo."

I had two suits with knickerbocker pants and one pair of black shoes, which my father shined while I stood on the toilet seat. Down, of course. Grimsey bought a Pierce Arrow for 40 bucks and we lived it up. The radiator leaked, so we put outs in it to seal it. We had the only car with bluebonnets growing out of the hood.

My children asked what it was like. It was rich and easy. We were up to here in debt. I worked in Wall Street and earned $12 a week. My mother took $10. My old man said that he didn't know what the younger generation was coming to. No good end, that's for sure...

... Believe me, I'm really just a nobody. You must have the wrong number, Mrs. Mitchell!

Rondout School Board Accepts Some Resignations

Personnel action highlighted for the 1971-72 school year in Tuesday night's meeting of the Board of Education of the Rondout Valley Central School.

The Board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Holly Lutz, a social studies teacher in the Middle School; George Rabuffo, a math teacher in the high school and Mrs. Colette Walsh, an elementary teacher in the Rosendale School.

All resignations are effective June 30.

The Board accepted "with extreme regret" the resignation, due to retirement, of Mrs. Edith Jager, a special education teacher who has served for many years in the school system.

The resignation, effective May 10, of Mrs. Ellie Gule, a teacher aide, was also accepted by the Board.

James Ellis was appointed language, art and social studies teacher at the Middle School effective September 1.

A leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Joyce Haynes, a clerk typist in the District Office, for the months of July and August, and to James Ayers, a math teacher in the high school.

Two Car Fires Extinguished

KINGSTON

Firemen responded to calls Tuesday afternoon after fires in two automobiles were reported.

At 2:40 p. m. Engine 1 in charge of Deputy Chief Glyn Southard was dispatched to Central Broadway where they found fire in a 1970 sedan owned by Martin Hammer of 38 Watson Lane, Town of Ulster. The blaze was quelled with a pressurized water extinguisher.

Fire records noted that the fire apparently was caused by a short circuit in the electrically operated door control, which was damaged along with windows.

The second car fire was reported shortly after 3:30 p. m. Engine 2 in charge of Lieutenant William Schreiber was sent to Wall Street opposite the Courthouse where they learned fire erupted in a 1966 car owned by Clifford Mathis of 251 Abel Street. The blaze originated in the motor area apparently from a blow-back of the carburetor. The fire was out on arrival of firemen.

Britts Reports Power Failure

KINGSTON

A power failure was reported this morning at the Britts store in the Ulster Shopping Plaza.

A spokesman for Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation said that company workmen were repairing the transformers owned by Britts when a short circuit apparently caused the outage. Services at the store were reportedly disrupted, although it could not be learned for what length of time.

BITTER DEFEAT — The last tycoon of the American movie industry, Darryl F. Zanuck, his famed cigar clenched between his teeth, hangs his head in defeat after it was announced at a 20th Century Fox stockholders meeting in Wilmington, Del., that he had stepped down from his post as chairman of the film company. Zanuck reportedly removed himself from the corporate position in order to strengthen Fox's hand in a battle for control of management from dissident stockholders. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Subject of Armed Siege

EAST CHATHAM, N.Y. (AP)

A 58-year-old man who State Police said was the subject of a three-hour armed siege at his home was in a state mental hospital today for observation. Troopers said that James

Leonard of this community southeast of Albany fired three or four shots at his brother's truck Tuesday, then barricaded himself and his wife in their house and, armed with a small arsenal of rifles, threatened to shoot anyone who approached.

Leonard appeared to be "somewhat" intoxicated, troopers said, so the police decided to wait. No shots were exchanged, and after three hours Mrs. Leonard emerged from the house. The troopers rushed through the back door, found Leonard asleep and seized a .32-caliber rifle he was holding.

Leonard's brother, Charles, who was driving the refuse truck when the shooting began, was not injured. A neighbor said the brothers had been feuding for some time.

Dr. Leonard Niesen, the Columbia County health commissioner, committed Leonard to Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie, officers said. No charges had been brought against Leonard as yet.

Man Burned As Payloader Catches Fire

A Kingston man suffered burns Tuesday when the huge payloader machine owned by the New York State Department of Transportation, he was operating caught fire as it was moving along Route 9W near this community, according to Highland State Police.

The spectacular, unusual incident occurred after 10:30 a. m. and resulted in the near crushing of a parked car.

State Police Sergeant S. M. Kowalik, who investigated, said Fraser L. Sprague, 28, of 48 Elmendorf Street, Kingston, was operating the heavy mechanical equipment along Route 9W when the engine "blew up."

Fire erupted and Sprague tried unsuccessfully to guide the burning machine off the highway onto the shoulder of the road, but fire apparently burned out the hydraulic steering equipment and the operator was unable to steer the vehicle.

Sprague reportedly jumped from the machine, but not before he received burns of the back of his neck. He also sustained a sprained ankle as he leaped to safety.

The payloader continued on driverless, and the bucket of the machine plowed into a parked car owned by Paul Georgini of 11 North Young Avenue, Marlboro, damaging the trunk, roof, rear window and fenders.

Workmen on the highway project used fire extinguishers to quell the blaze that extensively damaged the machine.

Event Climaxes Second Year

Junior Achievement Banquet Set June 2

KINGSTON's second annual Future Unlimited Banquet Wednesday night, June 2, Morton Alling, president of the board of directors of JA announced today. The annual dinner, scheduled for Wiltwyck Country Club, climaxes the second year of Junior Achievement activities in the Kingston area and more than 150 business minded young people, area business men and school administrators are expected to attend. Several Achiever Awards will be presented.

The guest speaker at the Future Unlimited Banquet will be Sol Dutka, who began his professional career as a college statistics instructor after receiving a B.S. degree from the College of the City of New York and a M.A. degree from Columbia University. He received a citation from the Secretary of War for his work in nuclear physics on the Manhattan Project during World War II.

He is the founder and president of Audits & Surveys, Inc., the second largest marketing research firm in the U.S. Founded in 1953, Audits & Surveys, Inc., now has a staff of 400 in New York City, a field staff of 5,000 and branch offices established in Europe, Latin America and Canada.

Dutka is presently a member of the Young Presidents Organization, a Fellow of the American Statistical Association and a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is also co-author of the book "How to Conduct Surveys" and his career is profiled in Executive Breakthrough, published by Doubleday.

Junior Achievement is the only organization in the United States today that actually involves young people at the high school level in economics of the complete business cycle and the workings of our free enterprise system; everything from incorporation to the showing of a year-end profit or loss. JA experience is a practical, not a theoretical one.

The Kingston Area Junior Achievement this year operated three mini-corporations sponsored by Rotron, Inc., Hucktrol Inc. and IBM, involving approximately 75 students.

State Thruway Limit to 70 In Senate Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The speed limit on the State Thruway would be raised to 70 miles an hour under terms of a bill passed by the Senate.

The increase from the present 65-mile-an-hour limit was approved overwhelmingly Tuesday and sent to the Assembly, where its prospects were uncertain.

There was no debate on the measure. Some senators commented among themselves that they already were driving at 70 on the superhighway.

WHY should anybody go to the store and pay good money for a half-gallon of Deer Park Mountain Spring Water, when you can turn on your faucet and get all the water you want, practically for nothing?

Actually, it makes very good sense. Here's why—

The water that comes from your faucet today is still, quite probably safe to drink.

But it's certainly not much fun to drink. To make your water safe to drink—to combat the ever-increasing level of pollution of the water-supply sources—they've had to add more and more chlorine and other chemical agents.

The taste and smell of chlorine is everywhere. It gets in your nostrils as you raise a glass of water to your lips. It spoils the taste of your coffee and tea, your juices and soups. If you mix water with your Bourbon or Scotch, you're making yourself a Chlorine Cocktail. Chlorine can even spoil the taste of your ice-cubes...and everything you put them in.

Many people today have forgotten that water can be used for something more than taking a shower or washing the dishes—that no other drink is so deeply satisfying, so refreshing, so clean-tasting and healthful as pure mountain spring water—Deer Park Mountain Spring Water. It's nature's way to satisfy thirst.

Even a hundred years ago, when water still tasted good—when nobody worried about chlorine or pollution—Deer Park Mountain Spring Water had a special quality so unique that it actually made Deer Park the summer capital of the United States.

America's richest, most fashionable, and most famous people traveled great distances to enjoy Deer Park water as it gushed forth from the mountain spring at the Crest of the Alleghenies—so fresh and clear, so sweet and delicious.

A magnificent hotel was built at Deer Park—frequented by Senators and Ambassadors, by judges and generals, by leaders of America's financial, social and political worlds. Six Presidents of the United States summered there—Grover Cleveland, the only U. S. President to be married in office, selected Deer Park as the place to bring his bride for their honeymoon.

The magnet was the deep virgin forests—the clear mountain air—but most of all, the sparkling Deer Park Mountain Spring Water itself. Every day, as a feature of the social life, a parade of carriages proceeded to the spring, and the guests took turns scooping up dippersful of the water as it gushed from the Spa.

Today's over-crowded pollution-plagued America is a far cry from those peaceful days. But at Deer Park itself, nothing has changed—not the still virgin forests, nor the crisp mountain air, not the cold, clean water that pours forth from the spring in an everlasting flow.

But there is one change. A hundred years ago, you had to travel to the spring to enjoy the water—today, you can find it on the shelf of your favorite grocery or supermarket, in gallon and half-gallon containers, with a blue-white-and-gold label.

There was a saying at Deer Park in those days— "He drinks of water who is wise— The only drink that satisfies."

If you have not yet experienced the truth of that statement, we urge you, today, to bring home a container of Deer Park Water and leave it in your refrigerator until it gets frosty-cold.

- Drink it whenever you're thirsty—see how deeply satisfying, how delicious it is.
- Use it to make your morning coffee—see how much better coffee tastes when you leave out the chlorine.
- Add it to your frozen orange juice—see how much better orange juice tastes when there's no chemical after-taste.
- Use it in your highballs...give your favorite whiskey a chance to show how good it really can taste.

But be sure it's genuine Deer Park Mountain Spring Water you get—and not the product of some local spring or well.

And be warned—many brands of bottled water aren't spring water at all. They're man-made water, produced in some water-processing factory. Man can make water that's safe enough to drink and pure enough to drink—but when you compare the taste and flavor of man's best with the taste and flavor of nature's best—well, there simply is no comparison!

Since you're paying good money to get good water, it makes sense to get the best.

Six Presidents of the U.S. Had to Travel to Deer Park to Enjoy This Beautiful Water, Directly From The Spring

Now You Can Find It At Your Store. It's Nature's Way To Satisfy Thirst!

Langdon Discusses His Future Plans

MILAN Interviewed after his 90th birthday this month, Jesse D. Langdon, last survivor of Teddy Roosevelt's Spanish-American War Roughriders, said that he wanted only to live on two acres of ground in this Northern Dutchess town until he died.

He has several plans, however, which show that he is not ready to die for some time to come.

One plan is to publish the 21st edition of "Taxless Government Via Effort Money," a book first published in 1947 which advocates the abolition of taxes and the economic theory of placing absolute values on work effort.

"The only sound economic basis is to monetize effort," said Langdon, speaking quite spiritedly and loudly as he is almost deaf.

He has good reason to dislike taxes. His 272 acres in Milan, which he tried to give to Dutchess County as a wildlife preserve for back taxes, have about $35,000 owed to them.

Langdon said that the reason the deal did not go through was because the county wanted half of the land "on speculation." He maintained that his land has more than 100 springs, and is the headwaters of a large creek which flows to the Hudson River some 10 miles away.

"You can't use it for recreation either," he said, "if you want to eliminate pollution." He is planning to give it either to Lutheran Social Services for the construction of a narcotics rehabilitation center, with residents doing the land maintenance, or perhaps to Boys Clubs of America, which has also shown interest.

While stating that several persons have asked to buy the property near the Taconic Parkway, Langdon said he would not sell it but would give it away.

The elderly Roughrider showed The Freeman copies of the deed he had signed, giving $125,000 worth of property in Lancaster, Calif., last week to Lutheran Social Services. This included a 100 by 100 foot building, headquarters for his Story-Langdon Foundation.

About the Foundation, Langdon said his desire is to keep it going in a supervisory capacity with no assets, and retain two acres and his concrete blockhouse in Milan and a house in California.

Meanwhile, Langdon is seeking to maintain his large holdings in Milan until finding a positive way to rid himself of the land and the taxes to someone else's advantage. The motto of his Foundation is "Do as you would be done by."

Koster, the announcement said, also would be stripped of his distinguished service medal. The Army said it also was stripping Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., an Assistant commander of Koster's division at the time, of his distinguished service medal.

Man Arrested As Fugitive

CATSKILL Sought by California authorities as a fugitive from justice, 36-year-old John Leslie Duke of Leeds, was taken into custody Tuesday afternoon by State Trooper W. P. Fitzmaurice.

Duke was committed to the Greene County Jail pending extradition proceedings. State police said it had not been determined whether the man would be extradited to return to Los Angeles where he reportedly is wanted on nine counts of forgery involving checks and one count of grand theft.

Mental Health Bus Service Is Discontinued

KINGSTON — The chartered bus service to Middletown State Hospital, operated for the past six years by the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, will be discontinued as of this month, due to Ulster County patients at the hospital being transferred to Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

The transfer of Ulster County male children from Middletown to Rockland Children's Psychiatric Hospital at Orangeburg may pose considerable hardship for parents, it was reported.

Anyone who may have transportation difficulties are invited to contact Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston.

Also, patients in Wards 1 and 2, and the Geriatric Ward will be transferred Thursday, and those in the Admission Unit and Tuckerman Hall will be transferred on Friday. A few long-term patients in Building 70 are not scheduled yet for transfer.

Public transportation to Hudson River State Hospital is available locally. The Mountain View Bus Line has a service from Kingston and Arrow Bus Line from New Paltz to Poughkeepsie. The Poughkeepsie Transit Lines has buses running every half hour from the terminal in Poughkeepsie to the Hudson River State Hospital. Relocation of Ulster County patients at Hudson River State Hospital will therefore be much more convenient.

Aborts Under Medicaid Upheld By the Court

NEW YORK (UPI)—The State Supreme Court ruled Tuesday women on welfare had the right to receive abortions under the state's Medicaid program.

New York City has asked the court to set aside a "clarification of policy" issued last month by State Social Services Commissioner George Wyman. The statement limited abortions to be paid for by Medicaid to those cases only where they were "necessary and medically indicated."

Justice Samuel Spiegel, in a 28-page decision, said withholding reimbursements for legal abortions was a "denial of equal protection of the law without due process and cannot be tolerated."

He said the state had practiced "an invidious discrimination against indigent women, denying them access to medical treatment which is available to those with sufficient funds."

The court ordered Wyman's directive of April 8 annulled and ordered him to continue to provide reimbursement for abortions authorized under the state's abortion law.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened firm in moderately active trading today.

Despite a Congressional back-to-work order ending the two-day rail strike and general optimism about the economy, some analysts looked for the market to continue to pull back over the short term.

Shortly after the opening, the Dow Jones industrial average was ahead 0.21 at 918.17. Advances topped declines, 61 to 134, among the 412 issues on the tape.

Standard of California gained 1/4 to 58 1/2 in the oils. Occidental added a similar amount to 20 1/4, while Natoms picked up 1/4 to 84 1/4. Superior 1/4 to 20 1/4, and British Petroleum 1/4 to 13 1/4.

In the automotive group, General Motors surrendered 1/4 to 83 1/4. Chrysler rose 1/4 to 29 1/4.

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI)—After waiting six weeks for the Pentagon to act, a city judge has returned a typewriter allegedly stolen from the defense department to the people from whom it was seized.

Municipal Court Judge Charles H. Baldwin ordered the machine returned to Susan Garret, 20; Gail King, 21, and Elizabeth Tompkins, 21. The typewriter, identified as one of several stolen from the Pentagon, was seized at their apartment. The government never claimed it.

All charges against the women were dropped April 15.

Stewart Jetport Idea Changed As Area Legislators Down Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller, facing mounting opposition to his plan to make Stewart Airport near Newburgh into a fourth major jetport serving the New York City area, revealed Tuesday the airport would, at least for the time being, be developed as an air cargo shipping center.

Rockefeller and eight state legislators from the Hudson Valley issued a statement saying plans to make Stewart, located 40 miles north of New York City, a major passenger terminal had been dropped. Instead, the statement said, the facility would continue to be used as a general aviation facility for private planes and be developed as a cargo terminal.

There were indications, however, that should the major commercial passenger airlines press for a new jetport in the future, the Stewart site would be the first to be revived. Previously considered jet port sites included New Jersey and Long Island.

Noting that cargo planes create noise and pollution similar to that created by passenger planes, Dr. Harold Katz, president of the Greater Newburgh Chamber of Commerce, called the governor's statement "doubletalk." Conservation groups involved in a fight against plans by Consolidated Edison to build a pumped storage generating plant at Storm King Mountain, time to be placed on phased development of the 15 miles from Stewart, were re-development of Stewart as an airport only by in response to any plans to "develop" Stewart general aviation facility," the Rockefeller announced earlier.

Legislators, Supervisors Set Dinner Date

KINGSTON — A meeting of the Ulster County Supervisors and Legislators it was the feeling of the County Legislator Lewis they would like to retain the present name, in keeping with the home rule in the matter of town reports to the Civil Service Association.

Molyneux suggested that if all towns sent in reports, they then might be accepted on a quarterly basis rather than monthly.

The date of the annual banquet for the Supervisors and Legislators Association was set for June 8 at the Villa Nueva in Plattekill be announced at a later date. Members of the banquet committee include Kirschner, George Sisti, Thaddeus Musialkiewicz, S. Robert Kelder and Ralph Brach.

Frank Greco, executive secretary of the Ulster County Civil Service Commission; Esther Jacobsen, Personnel Clerk for the commission and County Attorney Abram Molyneux, were guest speakers Tuesday night at a name of town constabulary to hearings in conformance with prescribed procedures. "The railroad planning and development for improving the service of the Erie Lackawanna will be accelerated. "The development will be consistent with sound environmental standards and practices." The statement was signed by Sens. Jay P. Rolison, R-Poughkeepsie, Richard E. Schermerhorn, R-Cornwall-on-Hudson, and Assemblymen Lawrence Herbst, R-Newburgh; Benjamin A. Gilman, R-Newburgh; Emeel S. Betros, R-Poughkeepsie; H. Clark Bell, R-Woodstock; Willis H. Stephens, R-Brewster; and Eugene Levy, R-Spring Valley.

Bad Faith Cited by Daley

Efforts to solve the strike of the blockyard industry employees have apparently stalled, with union members expressing dismay over tactics by some employers and their attorney, David Rider.

Theodore G. Daley, secretary-treasurer of Local 445, said today, "In all my years of experience in collective bargaining I have never seen such examples of bad faith and devious tactics as I have seen in the past two weeks in our dispute with the blockyard industry employers."

"In a good faith effort to answer questions from employers," said Daley, "a representative of the union met over this past weekend with Rider and the employers." "The following day," said Daley, "Rider characterized these meetings as negotiations, which indeed they were not."

"Today," continued Daley, "Rider advised the union that in his meeting with the union's representative Saturday and Sunday, he exceeded his authority."

Another union meeting has been called for Thursday.

Full Value School Rate

Kingston Ranks 10th From the Top

ALBANY poses was $65.56 per $1,000 assessed value compared with $66.55 for 1969-70, a decrease of 99 cents.

School tax rates increased in 54 of the state's 60 upstate cities from 1969-70 to 1970-71, remained the same in two cities, and decreased in four cities including Kingston.

The survey explained, however, that the decline in two cities—Canandaigua and Salamanca—was caused by a general re-evaluation of property which increased the assessed value substantially, thus lowering the rate on each $1,000.

A third city, Yonkers, has changed its fiscal year from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 to July 30 to June 1 and is operating on an interim budget which contains school appropriations for six months only. Yonkers is not ranked with the other 59 cities since its tax rate is not comparable for the 1970-71 fiscal year, the research organization noted.

The survey pointed out that Long Beach with $27.47; Melrose with $27.10 and New Rochelle with $26.84, are not a reliable basis for comparison among cities because of special situations such as those outlined above and because of variation from city to city in the percentage of full value at which property is assessed. Use of the full value rate adjusts for variations in assessing practices and is considered the best available measure for comparative purposes.

The lowest full value tax rate was recorded by Lackawanna at $12.87 per $1,000 full value. Watervliet with $13.45 ranked second from the bottom and Oswego with $13.72 was third low. Buffalo and Ogdensburg with rates of $14.13 and $14.40 respectively rounded out the bottom five.

The wide variations in tax rates in this city by city comparison are due to many factors: differences in the amount of taxable real property per pupil; amount of state and federal funds received by school districts; differences in the percentage of market value at which taxable real property is assessed. They represent the average for all assessments in teacher ratios; and the amount each city and do not necessarily of funds from non-property tax apply to individual parcels of property.

The research group pointed out that this study of city school rates is intended to show the extent of the variation in tax rates but it does not provide a basis for conclusions as to the causes of those variations.

GE Recalling Several Kits

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The General Electric Co.'s lamp division is recalling GE "out-door floodlight and holder" kits sold during and after August, 1970, due to a possible flaw in the electrical wiring of the lampholder which could cause severe shock.

A company spokesman said Monday that an investigation turned up about 40 units which may have been affected. The spokesman said the recall was being made as a precautionary measure. Owners of units purchased during or after August, 1970, were asked to send them to General Electric offices here. GE also asked dealers and distributors to return stocks for inspection.

JAMES F. DWYER

Dwyer Elected Boy Scout Chairman

KINGSTON James F. Dwyer of Woodstock was elected chairman at the annual meeting of the Ontario District of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America held at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Kingston. The Ontario District is the northern half of Ulster County and is the largest of the three district service areas of the local Boy Scout Council.

Dwyer is a well known business leader and is president of the Rondout National Bank of Kingston. He, his wife Elizabeth and four children, Anne, Joan, James Jr. and John reside at 30 Oriole Drive, Woodstock. The family has been active with Cub Scout Pack 34 where James is a Bear Cub.

Dwyer was very active as a boy in Scouting at Air Post 3 of St. Joseph Church in Kingston. He was the very first boy to receive the Air Ace Award (the highest boy award for Air Scouting) an award equivalent to Eagle with a Boy Scout Troop.

Dwyer will be the administrative leader of Scouting in this area. Other members elected were Richard Waltman, advancement chairman; William Carroll, camping chairman; Charles Fowler, training chairman; Robert Resta, finance chairman.

Scouting in the local area has had a 10 per cent increase during the past 12 months with Cub Scouts showing the largest increase. Well over 400 new Cub Scouts have joined the program in the last year.

A special recognition award was given to Donald C. Donohue of Woodstock, last year's district chairman. The award was made by Charles F. Carr, Scout executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

An Invitation to Use Program of the BSA

An invitation to use the program of the Boy Scouts of America was issued today to organizations in Ulster and Greene Counties by Richard Dillon, Organization and Extension Chairman, of the Rip Van Winkle Council.

Dillon explained that churches and synagogues, fraternal and veterans organizations, service clubs, schools, and other community groups can be chartered by the national youth movement to operate a Cub Scout pack, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer post.

The Rip Van Winkle Council is conducting a special spring project to make Scouting available to more boys in line with BOYPOWER '76, the long-range plan of the Boy Scouts of America. There are now

4,090 boys in Scouting, Dillon said, with 115 organizations now using the Scouting program.

Information about the Boy Scouts of America is available from the Scout service center, 110 Prince Street.

In surveys three out of four boys indicate that they want to be Scouts. Special attention is being given to those who have not had the opportunity to join. An expanded program to help organizations start their Scout units is being directed by Richard Rystrom, Vice Chairman of the Council's organization and extension committee.

An organization using the Scouting program agrees to provide leadership, meeting place, and program facilities. The Scout council makes help available in training, activities, camping and facilities, health and safety, advancement, and personal counseling.

Webelos leader Ray Codmus presented the highest award in Cub Scouts to Jay Codmus and Clifford Harris acted as narrator. Nick Schelling did a ventriloquist act with a dog named Oscar. Tim Haley played the voice of Oscar. The act was removed from the stage by use of the famous "hook" of Vaudeville days. The Hootenanny Hillbillies played "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain" on their hand-made instruments. The instruments consisted of a pie-tin tambourine, washboard, drums and cymbals, chimes made up of glasses and a wood flute. They concluded their skit with a Cub Scout song.

The Webelos concluded the meeting with a Vaudeville skit. They presented a Keystone Kops shoot-out. A muscled man demonstrated his skill and later had his muscles deflated with a hat pin by a Webelos boy dressed as a girl. Another boy was dressed as a girl complete with a wig. Their finale was a comedy sketch about a Tsetse Fly narrated by a monster complete with a ghoulish mask and a cape.

The Pill and Cancer . . . No Evidence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Cancer Society conference on breast cancer Monday said there is no evidence that oral contraceptives are associated with an increased risk of breast neoplasia (tumors). Indeed, these preliminary data suggest that the preparations tend to protect against the development of benign (noncancerous) lesions.

Dr. Martin P. Vessey, lecturer in epidemiology at Oxford University, told an American Cancer Society conference on breast cancer Monday. "No evidence has been found so far that oral contraceptives are associated with an increased risk of breast neoplasia (tumors). Indeed, these preliminary data suggest that the preparations tend to protect against the development of benign (noncancerous) lesions."

Women admitted to five London hospitals with breast lumps were interviewed by Vessey. "The number of patients is small, but they provide some evidence that oral contraceptives may protect against cancerous tumors and 166 had benign breast disease," he said. However, Dr. Edward F. Lewis of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore said certain women should not take birth control pills. He noted a long association of high estrogen levels with development of breast lumps in animals and humans and said about 300,000 women will get breast cancer in the next five years.

High-risk groups he cautioned against using the pill include women with a family history of breast cancer, women who have had cancer of one breast or recurrent noncancerous breast lumps and women with suspicious breast X-rays.

Automakers Get Scolding on Recalls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department has charged that recall notices sent by automakers to owners of defective cars and trucks often neglect spelling out all the possible dangers involved.

The result, says a scolding letter to 78 domestic and foreign manufacturers, has been an unlawful shortcoming in attempts "to provide the desired incentive in owners to have vehicles repaired."

The letter, signed by Douglas W. Toms, acting head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, reminds the automakers that federal law requires them to tell owners of affected cars whether defect might cause loss of control or crashes.

And it criticizes them for "serious failure" to comply.

Toms suggested that technical descriptions of flaws without evaluation of crash possibility discourage owners from getting their cars "repaired as quickly as possible."

Spokesmen for General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler all declined specific comment Monday because they said Tom's letter had not been received.

A 1966 law requires automakers to notify original purchasers and subsequent warranty holders by certified mail when safety-related defect is determined to exist in a vehicle. Repairs are made at owner's expense when the car is brought to an authorized dealer.

Tom's letter follows mounting concern among federal safety officials over what they consider a lack of effectiveness of recall campaigns. Auto spokesmen rated the success rate at about 70 to 80 per cent.

Toms also asked manufacturers to spur recalls by stating the notification is required by federal law; specifying the amount of work required to repair the defect; and providing a postage-free card for original owners to notify manufacturers of a new owner.

Push in Congress for Out of House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more than half the adult population, namely the women, are suffering underachievement as of the home with a $10 billion push in Congress.

Reps. Bella Abzug and Shirley Chisholm put the price tag attached to their bill for a massive new program of day care centers, aimed at liberating mothers everywhere while somebody else minds the kids.

Of course, says the flamboyant Mrs. Abzug, D.N.Y., the idea also is to help the children, mostly preschoolers, develop skills and interests.

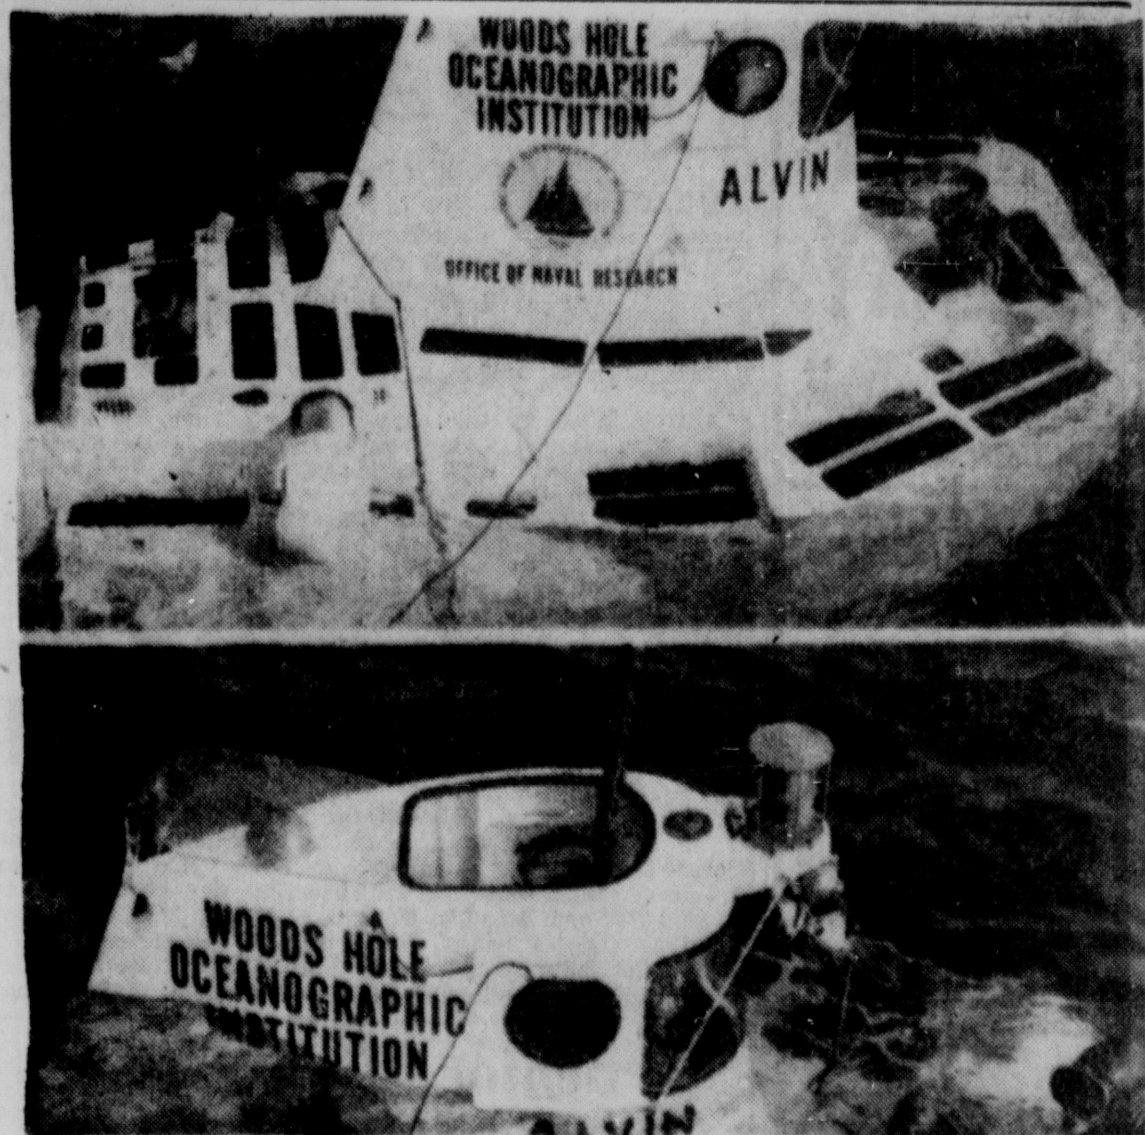

But the irony now, she stresses, is that folks who talk glibly about nurturing the potential of youngsters forget that

The bill calls for expenditures of $5 billion in fiscal 1973, $8 billion in 1974 and $10 billion for 1975 and thereafter.

The funds would be used to establish or expand child care centers throughout the nation, including some to operate 24 hours per day to accommodate night workers. All children, regardless of family income, would be eligible.

MINI-SUB LAUNCHED — A diver from the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Massachusetts assists (top) during the launching of the deep-submergence submarine "Alvin." The research mini-sub sank in some 5000 feet of water in the Atlantic in 1968 after a cable snapped as it was being placed in the water. The three-man vessel was recovered and rebuilt and is undergoing a series of test dives before being placed into full time service.

Mrs. Clifford Jones has been reinstated as a member.

National Defense Chairman Mrs. Robert Freer read a paper written by Roman C. Bucinski, member of Congress from Illinois, entitled "Wave of Terrorism Designed by Communists" in which he states that "The hijacking of aircraft, kidnappings of diplomatic officials, assaults on embassies, buildings, and other installations, the burnings and lootings, the subversion against established institutions of government, and the use of terror is not just something that is a coincidental happening throughout the world," but was "first conceived, designed, and developed at the Tricontinental Congress held in Havana, Cuba, on January 2-14, 1966 with more than 600 top communist leaders from 82 countries on three continents — Asia, Africa, and the Americas — in attendance." The article, which is reprinted from the Congressional Record, points out how U.S. freedom is being destroyed by communist deceit and treachery, Mrs. Freer said. The annual treasurer's report and regents report was given and Mrs. Gaylord thanked officers and members for their help and cooperation the past three years.

MR. & MRS. DUBOIS AND THEIR FLOWERS

Paltz Garden--A Maze of Flowers

A garden of 4,000 tulip and daffodil bulbs is now in full bloom on the grounds of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Elting DuBois at 65 Huguenot Street in New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. DuBois are inviting all area residents to come and see the flowers and "enjoy them while they last."

There are at least 20 varieties of tulips ranging from the very large Red Emperor to the smaller Cottage varieties. The daffodil display features about 10 varieties, including a rare, pure white and very fragrant one called Ice Follies, a new one with a peach-colored center, and the colorful Peeping Tom. DuBois obtained the bulbs through his connections with Jacobus L. Van Zyverden, the well-known Dutch bulb grower.

The bulbs were received from a ware house in New Jersey operated by Van Zyverden's sons. The bulbs were received and planted late last fall, and enjoyed the protection of this winter's deep snow cover, saving them from the depredations of marauding squirrels. They began blooming the end of April, and reached their full bloom this week.

Zena Pool Opening Off Until Next Year

While preliminary plans and youth groups, and school taxes the Zena Recreation Park and will not increase taxes as construction is still expected to and neighborhood organizations will pay to the town once the some people have claimed. It was also pointed out at the facility is developed will be. DuFresne added that another Zena Recreation Park an-meeting that a non-profit club "substantial," according to DuFresne will be held at least 30 opening its pool facilities until it does pay its full share of real will be contributing more tax and that the membership drive estate taxes. The amount of funds to the local government, is continuing.

This announcement came at a meeting of the Park's members Sunday at Deane's. Peter DuFresne, Park chairman, said that while the delay was "regrettable," it would, however, enable the members to spread their expenditures over a longer period of time. The first payment towards membership bond and initiation fee will be due upon joining and the second when actual construction begins. Annual dues will not be required until May 1, 1972.

A motion from the floor to support the new timetable carried by a margin of 104 to 1. DuFresne said that plans for this year would still include purchase of the land, preliminary road work and the start of some construction.

In response to statements from some quarters that the park not be restricted on a member-only basis, those attending the meeting voted to keep the park private, with the provision that the area would still be available by previous arrangement to "responsible groups," such as scouts, church

Ulster Town Recycling Project in High Gear

TOWN OF ULSTER adjacent to the firehouse, off newspapers, magazines, Supervisor Carmine Sabino, soda bottles and aluminum tins. The Saturday opening excludes the Memorial Day weekend. Mrs. Kobran is co-chairman of the Environmental Task Force of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Supervisor Sabino said he hopes there is enough interest in the recycling program to arrange for monthly collections by town highway trucks. A schedule will be announced. In the meantime, residents may bring their recycling materials to the depot. Papers should be tied in bundles not over 25 pounds to permit easy handling and installation on the collection truck when regular collections are scheduled. Those residents who are unable to deliver their recycling materials to the depot may save them and await the announcement for the first door-to-door collection, Sabino said. This latest phase of the project was a direct result of a pilot project conducted in the Spring Lake area some weeks ago.

Rhinebeck Man Named Hulley Award Winner

POUGHKEEPSIE Robert Frevele of Rhinebeck has been named the 1971 winner of the Colonel O.S. Hulley award at Dutchess County Community College.

Faculty members in the college's mechanical design program present the award annually to the graduating student they consider to be most outstanding in the curriculum.

A dean's list student, Frevele will have his name inscribed on a plaque which also honors Colonel Hulley, who for many years was a member of the mechanical design advisory committee.

Before his retirement, Colonel Hulley served as an educational consultant to General Electric. Harold Hayes, manager of manufacturing education at General Electric, presented the award to Frevele during ceremonies at the college recently.

The mechanical design curriculum at Dutchess Community College is a two-year program leading to the associate in applied science degree. Graduates enter industry in the field of drafting and design. Typically, they find employment as machine designers, tool and die designers, mechanical laboratory technicians, field service technicians, technical salesmen, mechanical designers or draftsmen.

Moul Named To Water Post

RED HOOK just decided this past Monday to have the City of Poughkeepsie prepare water bills through its computer service for an annual fee of about $2,000.

Rabbett also reported that two boys will be hired by the village for the Hometown Beautification program, which is now without state funds due to state budget cuts.

The Board has decided to go with the program anyhow, and two boys who worked here last summer have been rehired. They are Thomas Mabie and Vernon Coon.

Lockheed Doubles The Job Loss Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has doubled its estimate of job losses that would follow congressional failure to guarantee $250 million in loans the company needs to complete the Tristar jumbo jet.

In a memo to newsmen, Lockheed put the number of lost jobs at 63,000, double what the Nixon administration and the company have been saying. But it includes a new element: Over-all impact on the national job picture, rather than just on Lockheed and its subcontractors in 35 states.

The company stuck with previous estimates of about 30,000 layoffs in its own plants and those of subcontractors if it fails to win federal backing for $250 million private loans needed to complete the L1011 Tristar and survive huge cost overruns by Rolls-Royce Ltd., bankrupt British maker of Tristar engines.

The Lockheed memo also cited what the company called numerous "partial precedents" for government aid to troubled businesses, including a 1947 loan to Martin Aircraft, $75 million in 1967 guarantees to Douglas and last year's guarantees to Penn Central.

As the Lockheed memo circulated Tuesday the administration's loan-guarantee request was described by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., as a grave threat to free enterprise. Even if Lockheed is forced to cancel the Tristar, Proxmire said in a Washington speech, most if not all discharged Lockheed workers would be able to find jobs with McDonnell-Douglas which is building a competitor for the Tristar—the DC10—only 30 miles from Lockheed's Burbank, Calif., plant.

Proxmire said the administration's bill, due for scrutiny by the House and Senate Banking committees in the next few weeks, "is really a bail-out of Rolls Royce and the British government at the expense of the United States."

In a Senate speech, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said the proposal "should be named the Big Business Welfare Act of 1971."

Police Parley Sees Job Action A Possibility

SOUTH FALLSBURG, N. Y. (UPI) — The possibility of a statewide job action by police officers was mentioned Tuesday during debate at the 46th annual convention of the Police Conference of New York.

The threat of a strike came from policemen upset over legislative efforts to amend the Taylor Law, which governs public employees, on grounds the bills might place restrictions on the areas of negotiation in bargaining talks.

The issue boiled over during a heated debate by among some of the 700 delegates to the convention in the Pines Hotel.

Al Sgallione, president of the 55,000 member police group, said the members oppose attempts to make changes in the law that would block future pension changes and "reduce some of the gains we've made in the past."

He called the attempt to amend the Taylor Law "a direct anti-labor movement."

More moderate views prevailed at the convention and members were told to initiate a telegram campaign to their legislators advising them of their feelings.

Sgallione said the move would be taken "so that we can convince the legislators and Governor Rockefeller that we will not be pushed around like second class citizens."

In other action Tuesday, the Conference approved a resolution commending police in Washington, D.C., for their actions during recent protests.

Three Injured In Collision

ROSENDALE — Three Rhode Island residents including two children were injured early Tuesday afternoon when the car in which they were riding was involved in a collision on Route 32 in front of Don De Puy's garage in this village.

A car driven by Mrs. Roberta Carichner of Nichol Avenue, Warwick, R. I., was southbound on the highway when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Edward Ashton of New Paltz.

Injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital by Don's Ambulance Service were, Mrs. Carichner and her two children, David and Joanne. Mrs. Carichner reportedly suffered head injuries.

DWI Charge Lodged by Police

SAUGERTIES — Charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, Joseph A. Zisko, 50, Route 1, Box 34, Saugerties, is scheduled to appear tonight before Town Justice Calvin H. Cody.

Zisko was arrested Tuesday night on Route 212 by Trooper R. M. Houst on Route 212. The motorist was taken before Judge Cody who released him pending disposition of the charge.

Amerson Rights Case Goes to Jury Today

OPELIKA, Ala. (AP) — The civil rights trial of Negro Sheriff Lucius Amerson and his black chief deputy goes to an all-white jury in federal court today with no testimony from Amerson to explain why he clubbed a Negro prisoner following a gun battle.

The seven men and five women on the jury are to begin their deliberations after listening to closing arguments from the attorneys and receiving final instructions from the trial judge.

Amerson, 37, and deputy Richard Coleman Jr., 27, went on trial in a crowded courtroom Monday accused of assaulting a prisoner, Wilbert Dean Harris, following a shootout at the Macon County jail in nearby Tuskegee last Aug. 22.

If found guilty, each could be sentenced to a maximum of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Defense attorneys—led by Alabama's white attorney general, Bill Baxley, and state Rep. Fred Gray, one of two Negroes in the legislature—rested their case late Tuesday without calling Amerson as a witness.

They had conceded early in the trial that the sheriff struck Harris in the head with a pistol and that the chief deputy kicked the prisoner or nudged him with his foot, but contended it was done in self-defense and without malice.

Coleman told the jury Tuesday he did nothing more than shove his foot between Harris' legs—"with quite a bit of force"—so he could turn the prisoner over on his back to the officers outside the jail. Harris was lying on the front porch of the jail, according to testimony.

"I wasn't exactly in love with him," said the husky, broad-shouldered Coleman, recalling the gunshot fired by Harris at the officers outside the jail. But, he added, "I didn't kick him."

Prosecution witnesses had testified they saw Coleman kick Harris as the prisoner lay prone and bleeding from a wound which they said Amerson had inflicted. They said and two former policemen had Harris appeared to be unconscious or semiconscious; Coleman said he was awake and no longer putting up resistance when Amerson hit him.

Seale Summations Has Countercharges

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Opposing attorneys, making their final appeals to the jury, accused each other of presenting fabricated testimony and inadequate cases in the trial of Black Panther Chairman Bobby G. Seale and a local Panther leader.

Judge Harold M. Mulvey of Superior Court said he would charge the jury today.

Seale and his codefendant, Ericka Huggins, both face potential death sentences on two charges—kidnaping resulting in death and aiding and abetting murder—in the death of a Panther suspected of being a police agent. They also are charged with conspiracy to kidnap and murder.

Defense lawyers Tuesday depicted the state's chief witness, George Sams Jr., as the individual most responsible for the death of Alex Rackley on May 21, 1969, in a boggy river bottom 2½ miles north of New Haven.

"It is your duty to evaluate every single witness by their demeanor and their manner and what they have to win or lose," Charles R. Garry, Seale's attorney, told the jury of five blacks and seven whites. Sams and the state's other major witness, Warren Kimbro, have been allowed to plead guilty to second-degree murder.

which carries a mandatory life sentence, in return for their testimony. They originally faced potential death sentences in Rackley's death.

With Mulvey's approval, the two men could vacate their guilty pleas—up to the time they are sentenced—and plead guilty to lesser charges. Garry attacked the testimony of Nicholas Patore, a former New Haven policeman who said he saw Seale enter the local Panther headquarters shortly before the state alleges that Seale ordered Rackley slain.

Police Play Down Scouts as 'Eyes, Ears'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The American Friends Service Committee distributed a document here Tuesday, allegedly stolen from FBI files, describing how Boy Scouts in Rochester, N.Y., helped serve as "eyes and ears" of the police department.

Rochester Police Commissioner John Mastrella said "the Boy Scouts were asked to do nothing more than we ask all citizens to do ... (to) become involved."

The AFSC said the document was given it by the Citizens Committee to Investigate the FBI, which claims responsibility for the March 8 burglary of documents at an FBI office in sons loitering around schools, parks and secluded places, the purported FBI document said. Mastrella said "Operation SAFE" (Scouts Awareness For Emergency) was sponsored by the local council of the Boy Scouts of America. Mastrella said he did not know if it was still going on.

According to the document, the scouts in the program were issued identification cards by their scout leaders, carrying the boy's thumb print and a list of emergency phone numbers.

The scouts received police instructions on how to report crimes and were also encouraged to report suspicious per-

At New Brunswick, N.J., the national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America denied the boys had been asked to help serve as "eyes and ears" of the Rochester police. Scout officials said all the boys were asked to do was exercise the same surveillance activities required of any American citizen.

Black General for Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Guard is getting its first black general.

He is Col. C.C. Bryant, 49-year-old World War II combat veteran who is adjutant general of the District of Columbia National Guard.

There are more than 140 generals in the Army Guard and the Air Guard, but none is black.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of the National Guard Bureau, said, "I am tickled to see a man of his quality promoted to star rank. It had nothing to do with his race."

Bryant was promoted last Saturday at the District of Columbia level, but he told a reporter he doesn't intend to put on the silver star of a brigadier general until federal approval is completed.

A regular Army board will consider Bryant's promotion later this month. President Nixon then is expected to send a formal nomination to the Senate.

Of 493,375 men in the Army and Air Guard at the first of this year, only 5,988 or 1.2 per cent were black.

The guard has been criticized as being too white, but officials contend they have made concerted efforts to recruit young blacks without much success.

National Guard leaders have emphasized black recruitment, Bryant said, and "considerable progress has been made in certain states." But he said he would "like to see more progress faster."

WORDS TELL THE TALE — Truer words couldn't be spoken, as a photographer spotted this no outlet street sign and framed it with a graveyard background in a Philadelphia cemetery. (UPI Telephoto)

Many Democratic Candidates, Only Sen. Jackson Is Hawkish

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democrats are heading into the 1972 presidential campaign with a dozen or more possible candidates but only one, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who is classed as hawkish.

Losses in presidential primaries, political goofs and other showings of weakness could narrow the field to two or three in the 14 months before the Democratic National Convention. They also could produce a hodgepodge of readings indicating that no candidate was the clear favorite and that a negotiated settlement must be reached.

There will be a draping of the altar in memory of those who have died this year. All Stars and Master Masons are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

The most active travelers and speakers are Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the present pacesetter; Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, former vice president and 1968 presidential nominee; George S. McGovern of South Dakota, the only announced candidate; Birch Bayh of Indiana; Harold D. Hughes of Iowa, and Jackson.

In trial runs, poll-takers overlook Bayh, Hughes and Jackson but add Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who has said repeatedly that he will not be a candidate. And some Democrats want to add more.

All of these are left-of-center, although Jackson differs only in his defiance of two major items in the current liberal credo. He opposes drastic cuts in the defense budget and a fixed date for completing a U.S. pullout from Indochina.

Like the others, except McGovern, Jackson says he is not a candidate now. But he says he will decide by fall whether to run, and if he does, he will enter state presidential primaries.

A middle-aged liberal still in the forefront of ultra-liberal causes gives this assessment of the presidential preferences of the most liberal Democrats like those in Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and in this order: McGovern, Hughes, Bayh, Humphrey, Muskie, Jackson. But a hasty qualifier was added because the defeat of President Nixon will get first priority in 1972. Muskie will seem much more acceptable to the ultra-liberals next year if he looks like the candidate with the best chance of defeating Nixon.

Republican researchers recently compiled the liberal and conservative ratings of 10 possible Democratic candidates in the 1969-70 Congress. In addition to the seven mentioned here, they included Sens. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

All were rated at 100 per cent by the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) except Proxmire, who scored 92. COPE does not include antiwar votes in its ratings. On the ADA scale, Jackson was low man with 65 and Nelson high with 100. Kennedy and McGovern were listed at only 80 per cent compared with Muskie, Hughes and Harris at 95.

Americans for Constitutional action, a Conservative organization, rated eight of the 10 at less than 10 per cent with Jackson at 19 and Proxmire at 28.

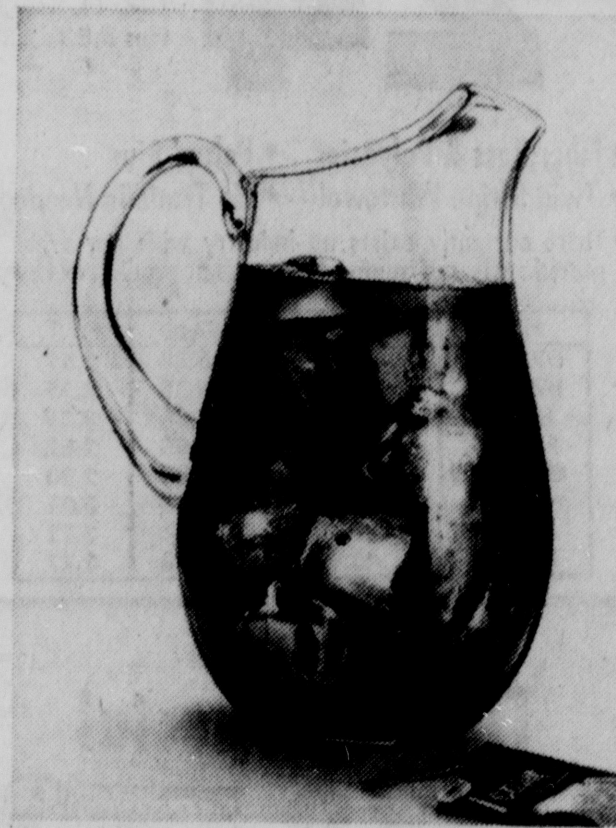

Humphrey's record was based on his votes before 1965, before his election to the vice presidency and before his return to the Senate.

Jackson was in effect disqualified for the ADA endorsement for President next year by the recent ADA convention. The convention adopted a resolution announcing that it would support no presidential candidate who failed to vote for complete withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam by the end of 1971.

Fifteen choices are contained in a ballot published for subscribers of "The New Democrat," a publication of young liberal Democrats.

Its list of names includes former Attorney General Ramsey Clark; Chairman John W. Gardner of Common Cause; Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York; Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota; former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, the mover and shaker of the Democratic Party in 1968; Sargent Shriver, member of marriage of the Kennedy family, former Peace Corps director and anti-poverty warrior, ambassador to France; Ralph Nader, the crusader for consumer causes, and Bayh, Harris, Hughes, Humphrey, Jackson, Kennedy, McGovern and Muskie.

The BOCES Story Revealed

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON
BOCES, "the best kept secret in New York State," was revealed by its local executive director at the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Breakfast meeting Tuesday morning.

Dr. Jack Roosa, Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services director and district superintendent of schools, told the BOCES story, present and future with slide illustrations at the chamber breakfast in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The role of BOCES in the overall educational program in New York State is complex and growing in scope. Dr. Roosa defined the initials as standing for Bringing Our Children Essential Services.

He detailed these services in the occupational education, special education, instructional resources, data processing, federal programs and administrative areas.

Dr. Roosa also revealed future plans for BOCES including a proposed center to house vocational and special education units in one location. He noted that BOCES has taken option on 50 acres of land in Bloomington and just this week received assurances of adequate water supplies at the site. Initial site tests are being conducted and on Monday drillers hit water at 45 gallons per minute which Roosa termed as "adequate for our needs."

Addressing the 40 chamber members and guests attending the breakfast, Dr. Roosa posed the questions "What Can We Do for You? and What Can You Do for Us?" He invited business and industrial leaders to attend a special open house at the vocational education center on Grand Street 9:30 a.m. June 8. This way, he said, business leaders could view the instructional offerings and could make suggestions for additional courses that might apply to their firms. Roosa also asked that if industry had openings for BOCES trainees or graduates that they make this known.

In stressing the need for a central location for vocational and special education phases of BOCES, Dr. Roosa noted that occupational education classes are in rented locations at the Ruzzo building on Grand Street, Millard Building and H. F. King Building on Broadway; in Kingston Hospital and in schools at Rondout Valley and New Paltz. The 840 enrollees attend classes at these centers on a half day basis, attending their own school districts for the other half of the day.

Special education classes for the emotionally disturbed, the educable and the trainable child are conducted at Saugerties, the former Rosendale School, and at a house in New Paltz. He characterized the scattered make-do classrooms as sub-standard for this particular phase of BOCES.

Equally important aspects of BOCES were pointed out by Dr. Roosa in areas of Instructional Resource, Data Processing and shared teachers.

Through the pooled efforts made available by BOCES, units of resource material and personnel are provided for teachers in the eight participating school districts. A publication, People, Places and Things, provides the individual teachers with a list of speakers, field trips and related materials on a variety of subjects. Enrichment programs for college bound high school students is provided by the Senior Seminar.

Data processing services are provided for schools in Ulster and Dutchess Counties at the present time and it is expected that this will be expanded to service in a regional capacity within the next few years, adding Sullivan and Orange Counties to the computer list. The center provides rapid handling of a number of paperwork chores such as scheduling, payroll, and report cards.

As yet computer assistance in the classroom has not been fully developed. However some experimental instructional aid is being used in the Rondout Valley Middle School and some in Dutchess County.

When BOCES was started in 1948 its main role was providing shared teachers. At that time there were 168 school districts in Ulster County as opposed to eight participating districts in BOCES programs now. In those early days, BOCES was the hiring agent for full time art, music teachers, school nurses and the like with the personnel being sent to the individual schools on a shared basis. Although this need has dropped off somewhat with the consolidation of schools, BOCES still provides shared teachers in specialized fields.

Federal projects are another facet of the BOCES jewel which is not too widely known. Under grants from the federal government BOCES provides Head Start programs for migrant workers' pre-school children and serves as record transfer center for migrant school children under a regional plan. Additionally funds are provided for the vocational education program under government grant.

Administrative services include providing an agency for group bidding on such items as cafeteria equipment and fuel for the participating school district. Bus driver training is provided by BOCES also. School administrators have an opportunity for dialogue and development through regular meetings under the BOCES wing.

One of BOCES prime functions is to serve as liaison between the State Education Department and the local school district. It serves as an intermediary and extension of local schools providing more comprehensive programs than would be available through the efforts of the individual schools. For example in the field of vocational education, Dr. Roosa noted that while an individual school system might be able to offer three courses and another four courses, BOCES can provide a wide variety of occupational courses ranging from cosmetology to home building specialties.

Clifford A. Henze, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce presided at the breakfast meeting. Donald MacIsaac, program chairman, introduced Dr. Roosa.

Restraining Order By Central Hudson

POUGHKEEPSIE
John Wilkie, chairman of the Board of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., stated today that the company had obtained a temporary restraining order from the State Supreme Court in Dutchess County preventing Amerada Hess Corporation from cutting off fuel supplies to Central Hudson's Dan-skammer Point generating plant and from increasing the price of oil being delivered under contract.

A hearing on the matter has been set by the court on June 7, at which time the company will urge the granting of an injunction against Amerada Hess.

Wilkie stated that Central Hudson has a firm contract with Hess providing for specified deliveries of oil through 1980, with prices fixed through 1975. The price increase proposed unilaterally by Amerada Hess as a condition for further oil deliveries, and stated to be for reasons beyond the control of Hess, would increase the cost of oil to Central Hudson by about 43 per cent.

"It is evident," said Wilkie, "that any such price increase amounting to several millions of dollars a year would have to be passed on to our customers in the form of higher rates. Moreover, any termination of deliveries would require the immediate shutdown of two generators producing 375,000 kilowatts of electrical capacity and would prevent the operation of a 68,000 kilowatt generator which will have been converted to oil firing by May 30, 1971. This total of 443,000 kilowatts constitutes over 70 per cent of the company's generating capacity."

Sheriff's Patrols Resuming In Rhinebeck Memorial Day

By TIM SCHUSTER
RHINEBECK
Special sheriff's patrols will resume in the Village of Rhinebeck starting Memorial Day weekend for the duration of the summer it was decided at Tuesday night's Board of Trustees meeting.
It was the first village meeting in the new village hall-firehouse building. Work was described as "between 90 and 100 per cent completed" by Mayor Peter Sipperley.
The village hires off-duty deputies to cover weekends and at other specified times when village patrols are off duty, since the village force is admittedly understaffed, according to Police Commissioner Francis Kinney.
"I think we're being cased for when patrols are not on," said Kinney, referring to a pattern of burglaries on off-duty nights. And Sipperley added that there are "a lot of out of town cars raising hell" on Saturdays and Sundays.
The deputies have been paid $3 an hour, and will receive a pay boost to $3.50 an hour this summer.
Kinney noted that the state police and the Sheriff's Department has been very cooperative in providing coverage of the village during patrolmen's vacations or sick days.

In other village business, Thomas Bradley, Crosnour Drive, was appointed to a vacancy on the Planning Board. He is a math teacher in the Onteora School system.
Village Clerk Patricia Pfum said that a report from the Department of Audit and Control is available for public perusal in the village offices.
She also reported on a meeting on tax mapping and reappraisal that the village will receive no copy of records, which will be kept in the town hall, and will have to make its own copies.
Mayor Sipperley commented that some unknown persons have requested that the Dutchess County Fairgrounds in Rhinebeck be used for a rock festival at an as yet unspecified time.
The Town Board has drafted a regulatory resolution, and has set a public hearing for June 16. The village will discuss the possibility of following suit. As Sipperley put it, "Obviously, we could never handle something of this size here."
John Marks, in the fire report, said that all village fire alarm boxes had been removed and the siren must now be erected on the new building.
He recommended a no parking zone across East Market Street from the new firehouse for easy egress with the trucks, and several other no parking spots around the village were tacked onto the resolution, which passed.

Eugene Trombini, giving the street report, noted that 75 truckloads of debris were picked up during the recent cleanup week. And there were 25 maples planted around the village this spring.
David Queen, in the water report, said that there seemed to be a lot of things wearing out at the water plant "for being in operation only two years." A meeting with the engineer was set for the next regular meeting date.
And Queen said that the aniline dye dumped in the Hudson River in Rensselaer last month was determined by the health department not to be in sufficient quantities to hurt Rhinebeck's water.
Village Justice William J. Pollard reported to the Board that his court hours were being changed from Saturday morning to Thursday evenings, 7-9 p.m.
Village hall architect Bruce Helmes donated a flagpole and will donate a plaque to the new edifice. It was determined that past and present members of the Village Board will be listed on the plaque, along with dedication to the people of Rhinebeck.

Damaged Pipe Still an Issue In Highland School District

By WADE BURKHART
HIGHLAND
The Highland School Board voted at the last regular meeting to accept repairs rather than replacement of the damaged sections of the 84" pipe installed at the new school site by the Rabena Construction Company. Now that the board has voted to be satisfied with less, it is being asked to pay more by Rabena.
In a letter received Monday by School Board President John Elia, Raymond Constantino, head of Rabena, asserted that the contract had been met, and the cost of any additional work done on the pipe (the repairs) would be borne by the school district.
The board voted to accept repair of the pipe on the recommendation of Charles L. Lino, the professional engineer the board retained to examine the whole question of the pipe. Lino recommended that corrective action be taken on the sections of pipe currently exceeding 10 per cent deformation, that the repairs recommended by Bernard E.

Butler, the architect's engineer, if "properly supervised" should make the pipe structurally sound, and that all work should be done through the architect, and instructions and directions should come from his.
Lino further said that any changes in the specifications and details by the school board would only complicate matters further.
The pipe, in some places, has deflected from its proper height of seven feet to a height of five and one half feet. Elia emphasized to The Freeman that the pipe had deflected to five and one half feet, not a total of five and one half feet as was previously reported in The Freeman.
According to Elia, the repairs to the pipe would involve the insertion of a 66" fully paved 12 gauge sleeve into the deformed sections, with grouting to hold it in place. Elia said that the letter from Constantino asserted that, after thorough examination of the situation and correspondence with those involved in the matter, the deflection in the pipe was not "in any way the fault of the contractor." According to Elia, the letter said work was proceeding on the repairs, but payment by the board for the work would be expected.
The board, when it resolved to accept repair rather than replacement of the damaged sections, also resolved that the grouting should be done under the direction and inspection of someone experienced in the process, preferably by a representative of Armco, the company from which the pipe was purchased.

Nixon Seeking Good Economic Signs

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a third of the year gone, the Nixon administration is still looking for solid evidence of a broad economic upsurge that will drive down high unemployment and slow inflation further.

Despite President Nixon's pledge that 1971 will be a good year, unemployment has hovered around the 6 per cent rate all year. Last month, the jobless rate edged up to 6.1 per cent.

Although consumer price increases slowed perceptibly in the first few months of the year, wholesale prices, which usually presage future cost-of-living increases, accelerated in April.

And, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday, the rise in national personal income slackened in April, supplying new evidence the economic pace is failing to match the administration's forecasts.

The personal income advance was $4.5 billion, down from the $6.2 billion increase recorded in February. The April rise was about the average monthly gain in 1970, a year in which the economy went through what Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns has called a recession.

The evidence suggests, according to some economic analysts, that the expansion Nixon is seeking is not moving fast enough to reduce unemployment and inflation to acceptable levels.

The President has pledged to cut unemployment to 4.5 per cent and inflation, now running above 5 per cent, to 3 per cent by the middle of 1972.

To achieve these goals, he has promised to stimulate the economy with stepped-up federal spending and easier money policies. If these fail to work, Nixon has said he will consider tax cuts later in the year to provide further stimulation.

There was an economic rebound from January through March but it can be traced to a catchup in business activity after settlement of the General Motors' strike.

But so far, the expansion has not been strong enough to make a dent in the unemployment rate, which Nixon's economic officials say should be falling below 5 per cent by the end of the year.

Nixon has called for a 9 per cent increase in economic output this year, projecting that Gross National Product, output of the nation's goods and services, will reach $1,065 trillion this year.

The GNP advanced by $28.5 billion during the first quarter but the strong gain still fell short of the administration's forecasts. Almost two-thirds of the boost was traced to the resumption of G.M. automobile production.

It will be July before the next GNP report is announced and conclusive figures available on the pace of the recovery.

But the latest figures indicate that the recovery is not as broad-based as the administration would like. In the latest reading, for example, business investment in plant and equipment was lackluster.

Bosses' Week Proclaimed

EDUCATIONAL SECRETARIES — Miss Louise Prochaska, president of Educational Secretaries of the Kingston Area, discusses Bosses' Week (May 16-22) with Stephen Hyatt, principal of J. Watson Bailey Junior High School. The observance is being held in cooperation with the New York State Association of Educational Secretaries and the National Association of Educational Secretaries. Bosses are being recognized in different ways in the schools and offices of the Kingston Consolidated School District. In the proclamation issued in honor of the occasion, it is stated that school administrators work long and hard to promote the cause of education and improve the welfare of children. They are frequently called upon to participate in professional, parent-teacher, church and civil activities often during off-duty hours and notwithstanding the pressures and demands of their professional obligations, administrators stand ever ready to advise, reassure and assist those with whom they work. In grateful recognition of this unselfish service to school and community, the week of May 16-22 will serve to spotlight the work of school administrators throughout the State of New York. 'Fractured Fashions' Meeting Highlight

Members of the Woman's Club of Saugerties traveled to Cooperstown, N.Y. to participate in the 1971 Convention of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs. On Tuesday, May 11, 23 Club members made the trip to present the comedy-fashion show "Fractured Fashions" as part of the Convention festivities. The production was very enthusiastically received by over 200 Club women who had gathered from all points of New York State at the Otesaga Hotel in Cooperstown. "Fractured Fashions" is an original comedy skit written in the fashion show format, that treats and good-naturedly mistreats well-known characters from television, movies, politics, and elsewhere. Humorous narrative descriptions and specially selected musical accompaniment add to the mirth.

Giving outstanding performances were the following members of the Woman's Club: the Mmes. Bruce Caughell, Robert Anderson, Ronald LeBlanc, Joseph Kramer, Frank Lauffer, Joseph Sullivan, Joseph Lack, Esmond Vedder, Walter Stolte, Albert Treu, Robert Cole, Richard Dunn, Wayne Brunkhurst, George Leombruno, William Kendall, Edward Jabs, Donald Simmons, Thomas Zulick, George Puram, and Joseph LaSusa. Music was supplied by Mrs. Dennis Wurzel, assisted by Mrs. William Ashmore, with Mrs. Edward Ruszyk serving as Narrator. Mrs. Wayne Brunkhurst filled the post as Director.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

Morning Callers Irsome

DEAR ABBY: In all the years I've been reading your column I never have seen this problem discussed.

My children are grown and out of the nest. Two are married and one is away at school. My husband prefers to have his breakfast downtown, so after 24 years of getting up early to prepare breakfast for my family, I am finally able to sleep in the morning.

Now the problem: My friends start calling me at 8:30 a.m. They have nothing to say that could not have waited until noon. They just want to visit.

Once I am awakened, I can't go back to sleep. Also they ask, "Did I wake you up?" When I say yes, they make me feel as though I should apologize for sleeping.

(Especially my sister in law!) I have been a faithful wife and a good mother, and I am not lazy, so if I want to sleep late, whose business is it but my own?

I would take the telephone off the hook but with aging parents and children away at school I am afraid I might miss an emergency call. Is there a solution?

BUCKEYE DINGALING

DEAR DING: Yes! Ask each and every early bird caller to please refrain from calling you until noon because you have now earned the right to sleep late and would like to enjoy it. If they "forget," hang up on them. They will soon learn to respect your wishes. (P.S. For openers, clip this, and send it to the worst offender.)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Police Probing Assault on Youth

SAUGERTIES State police continued investigation today of a reported assault on a 16-year-old youth, who was seriously injured during a fight at Mt. Marion Park Tuesday.

Ronnie North of Mt. Marion Park, said that his son, Gary, was waiting for a school bus yesterday morning when one of two boys, swinging a yo-yo tried to hit his son on the head. North said Gary grabbed the yo-yo and threw it into a nearby creek.

The owner of the yo-yo, North said, allegedly hit his son's head with a rock, knocking him unconscious for about 2 1/2 hours. North said the other two youths reported kicked his son, inflicting cuts, bruises and abrasions and head injuries.

The injured youth was taken to Benedictine Hospital where he is under treatment.

State police at the Kingston Zone Headquarters said the complaint is still under investigation and arrests are pending. They released no further details of the incident which was investigated by Trooper P. R. Barber.

NOMINATED AS GENERALS — These two lady colonels were nominated to be generals. They are Col. Mildred C. Bailey, 52, a native of Ft. Barnwell, N. C. (L) who will lead the WACS, and Col. Lillian Dunlap, 49, of Mission, Tex., who will head the Army Nurse Corps. (UPI TELEPHOTO FROM PENTAGON FILES).

Law-and-Order Candidate
Wins Dem Primary in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Riding the law-and-order theme, former Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo defeated a young liberal congressman and a black lawyer for the Democratic nomination for mayor of Philadelphia in a record outpouring of primary voters.

It ended a bitter campaign in which Pennsylvania Gov. Milton S. Eisenhower intervened in a last-ditch gamble to derail Rizzo and end what he called backroom, boss politics. He said the self-styled "tough cop" led forces of fear that could tear the nation's fourth largest city apart.

With 99 per cent of the vote counted, Rizzo had 176,621; U.S. Rep. William J. Green, whom Shapp backed, 127,902; State Rep. Hardy Williams, a lawyer and the only black candidate, 45,026.

Five others on the ballot three of whom withdrew too late to get their names off, received a combined 11,000 votes, leaving Rizzo with less than half the total cast.

The turnout Tuesday was 67 per cent of the 552,347 registered Democrats, of whom 188,000 are black and 58,000 Italian. Never before had more than 50 per cent turned out for a primary.

Rizzo told supporters he'd win "easily" in November, against W. Thacher Longstreth, a former councilman and Chamber of Commerce official who easily won the Republican nomination.

Democrats outnumber Republicans 5 to 3 in Philadelphia and have held the mayoralty since they ended 60 years of GOP rule in 1951.

Despite the advantage, however, Democrats have lost two races for district attorney and one for city controller within the past decade, and they came within 11,000 of losing the mayoralty four years ago. Rizzo had the backing of the party organization headed by retiring Mayor James H. Tate.

Rizzo, 50, emphasized the law-and-order issue in the Italian neighborhoods and in the middle-class, blue-collar sections. He left most of the campaigning in black sections to Williams and Green.

Shapp had come out strongly against Rizzo, saying "tough talk, torn by fear, has never solved complex problems of human society." He declined to say whether he would support Rizzo in the general election.

Less than 35 per cent of Pennsylvania's 5.2 million registered voters turned out for primaries elsewhere in the state.

SCHOOL MEETING

Slated Tonight

KINGSTON

School administrators will meet tonight with parents of Sophie Finn School children to discuss plans to alleviate overcrowded conditions at the school next year.

Louis A. Salzman, superintendent of schools, said "We want to find out what the parents want us to do about the overflow at the Sophie Finn School." He added that administrators "have made no decision," as yet to solve the problem.

Because the school administration, according to Salzman, has received varying reports on what the parents want done, tonight's meeting was scheduled to determine, first hand, what moves the parents prefer.

The meeting, open to all parents, will begin at 7:30 in the Sophie Finn School.

NEW YORK STATE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

T. W. PARKER, COMMISSIONER

DEPARTMENT REQUEST FOR LOCATION APPROVAL

On July 1, 1967, a public hearing was held at the New York State Armory, North Manor Avenue, Kingston, New York. Subsequently, on May 19, 1968, a public hearing was held at the Chambers Elementary School, 949 Albany Avenue, Kingston, New York. These hearings concerned the alternate locations being considered by the Department for the construction of approximately 2.3 miles of Route 9W relocation in the Town of Ulster in the County of Ulster.

The project begins at Route 32 just north of the City of Kingston and extends northerly to Route 15 at a point approximately 0.3 miles east of the existing Route 9W-199 intersection. At these hearings, the general type of facility proposed, the nature of the service which the highway is intended to provide, and the major features of the alternate locations were discussed.

As a result of project planning, an analysis of the views of interested State and Federal agencies, local government agencies and officials and civic groups, and an analysis of the transcripts of the public hearings, the Department has selected one alternate for which it is requesting location approval from the Federal Highway Administration. This alternate has been designated "Alternate B" and is generally located on an alignment east of and parallel to existing Route 9W beginning at an intersection with Route 32 approximately 0.2 miles east of existing Route 9W in the Town of Ulster and extending northerly to Route 15 approximately 0.3 miles east of the existing Route 9W-199 intersection. This information will include the comments or views received from various Federal and State agencies, local government agencies and officials, and civic groups.

A notice stating the action taken by the Federal Highway Administration on the Department's request for location approval will be published in this newspaper.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

RETARDED? (Q) I think I'm retarded. How do I find out?

Doubts began to assail me last summer when I started to college. I joined a club. The students give parties and such for retarded children. One of the members began talking to me all the time about one especially delightful retarded girl she knew. The girl sounded just like me.

Then my mother told me she used to think my sister was retarded because she didn't keep her room neat and didn't associate with many people. All of a sudden I realized she could be describing me.

I have tried some group therapy. It helped me a lot but I still don't know. I had no trouble in school except for not having many friends — Suspicious in Oklahoma.

(A.) Your letter does not read as if you were retarded. Your school achievement is not that of a retarded person. But, to be sure, go to the placement office of the college you attend and ask to have an intelligence test. I believe you will come through fine. But if your score is below par do not "fold up your tent." You have achieved highly this far and you can keep on achieving.

EARLY GRAY: (Q) I'm getting white hairs and I'm just 16! Not just a few either. Almost the whole side underneath is gray. The other girls are beginning to notice and I'm getting frantic. Please help — "Grandma" in Newark, N. J.

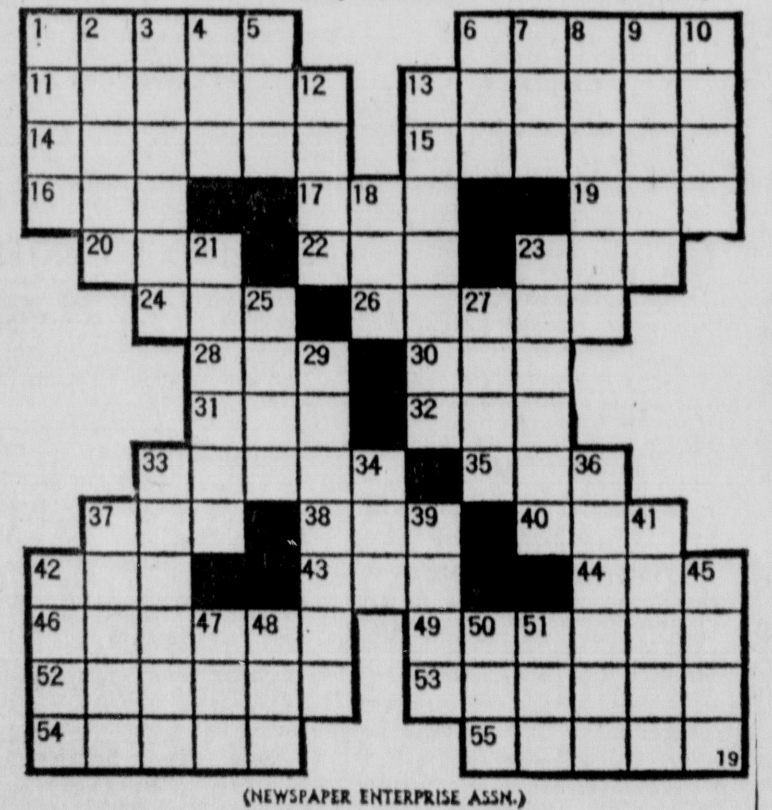

(A.) Gray hair often comes early. To boys and girls. Yours may be hereditary. Ask your parents about it.

But whether there is a history of early gray hair in your family or not, your answer is hair color. Used correctly and regularly, a good quality of hair color can end all your worries on this score.

Water Commission Sets Conference Here May 26

KINGSTON support staff and resource people. The Southeastern Water Supply Commission will hold a conference with Ulster County officials from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Wednesday, May 26 at the County Office Building.

The commission, of which Assemblyman H. Clark Bell is vice chairman, is vitally concerned with the metropolitan area's need for more water.

This need has been emphasized in light of the fact that it has been determined that safe yields for the New York State Watershed are 28 per cent lower than previously estimated. This figure evolved following study of the 1960 drought conditions and was a factor in the recent decision to allow New York City to reestablish a pumping station on the Hudson River south of Poughkeepsie.

Among those expected to take part in the conference, in addition to Bell, are Harry Edinger, director of Environmental Sanitation for the Ulster County Health Department; R. D. Hennigan, executive director of the Southeast Water Supply Commission; E. Virgil Conway, chairman of the commission; Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature; Herbert Hekler, director of the Ulster County Planning Board; William C. Taylor, commissioner of the Health Department.

Resource people will include Edmund T. Cloonan, superintendent of Water Dept., Kingston; Christos Larios, consulting engineer and Edward Karath, Department of Environmental Conservation.

The meeting is planned as an informal technical conference, called for the purpose of familiarizing Commission members with the broad water supply situation, problems and issues in Southeastern New York. In no sense is it a public hearing, according to Edinger who added that attendance is by invitation only and will be generally be limited to commission members, program participants, include a session on land use, economic and demographic factors (present and future) Hekler will speak.

Water Supply and Use Factors including local resource conditions and the county plan for water development will be discussed by Edinger, Dr. Taylor and Larios.

Talks on institutional arrangements including management and financing will follow with Edinger, Larios and Cloonan as speakers. They will discuss operating water agencies, long range plans and constraints to implementation.

Issues, problems and needs will be the subject undertaken before lunch with an informal discussion planned with others in attendance.

Following lunch the group will tour area water facilities including Ashokan Reservoir, Cooper Lake Supply, Hudson River Plant at Highland or Port Jervis. Edinger is in charge of the arrangements for the conference which will take place in the fifth floor chambers of the Ulster County Legislature.

Sentencing Set In City Court

KINGSTON Arrested on a charge of violating probation, Hiram Jacob Tyler, 52, whose address was listed by police as 771 Albany Avenue Extension, appeared in City Court Tuesday and Judge Hubert A. Richter set May 22 for sentencing.

Tyler was arrested by State Trooper E. A. Zeboris on a City Court warrant and later he was turned over to Kingston police. According to police records, Tyler was placed on probation following his arrest on Jan. 4, 1969 on a charge of issuing a forged check. He was subsequently arrested on May 1, 1970 on a probation violation charge and at that time he received a conditional discharge.

WOODSTOCK school and junior high will be divided into two separate entities, insofar as possible. A four-pronged drug abuse program for the Ontario Central Schools District was discussed, but tabled, at the May meeting of the Board of Education here Monday night.

Sitting in session at Woodstock Elementary School, trustees discussed a drug abuse program proposal that will eventually be sent to Albany for State Education Department approval; tabled the proposal for further review by some board members. It is expected that the project will be passed at the June meeting.

The program, if instituted, would call for training of both teachers and students in the field of drugs and their abuse; would emphasize an improved curriculum in the subject; and would provide additional psychological and counseling services to aid in the fight against the drug problem.

In other action, the board created a new, first-time administrative position. Ontario High School will now have its first Dean of Women, with Miss Janet Faughnan named Monday night to fill that role.

There was good news, too, for the Ontario band and its many avid fans. Trustees approved new band uniforms — the first in many years — and, following the submission of bids — approved a contract with the Fruehauf Company to make new uniforms for OCS marching musicians, whose precision routines and superlative sounds are often in demand around the eastern seaboard for half-time shows. The uniforms have been promised for delivery before the beginning of the next school year.

Among the retirements announced at the meeting was that of Mrs. Elsie Etienne, whose lengthy career in education was praised by the board. Now teaching at the West Hurley Elementary School, she will retire at the end of June after 27 years of service.

Throughout the summer vacation period, the board and administration will be working on the reorganization of the junior-senior high school into two separate units. While both will still be housed in one physical building, the high school and junior high will be divided into two separate entities, insofar as possible. Beginning in the fall, Grades 7 and 8 will be separate from Grades 9 through 12. The new reorganization will be on an experimental basis for one year; will be evaluated at the end of that year.

Plans call for the high school to be under the administration of a Director of Secondary Education-High School Principal, and for the junior high school to be under the direction of a Junior High School Principal. Also included in the plans is the position of the new Dean of Women to serve in Grades 7 through 12.

Both the board and administration feel that this reorganization will make the school as close to the administration as possible.
